PREMIER KING WELCOMED TO CITY

Addresses Meeting Of Liberal Chiefs; Lauds Westerners

Prime Minister Says Attitude of West Toward Present Government Shows That Public Realizes Nature of Task and Appreciates Way in Which it is Carried Out—Meeting Passes Resolution of Confidence

The wonderful feeling of friendliness towards the present government now prevailing throughout the west was stressed by the Right Hon. W. Mackenzie King, Premier of Canada in his address to representatives of Liberal executives throughout Northern and Central Alberta Thursday morning. The Premier alluded to the change of attitude on the part of those in the west who did not see eye to eye with the government at the time it was formed. He emphasized this outstanding feature as the most gratifying aspect of his present tour, and instanced the friendly disposition of the different sections of the community together with what amounted to the general favourable tone of the western press.

It was, said the Premier, significant of the public recognition of the fact that the administration was endeavoring to govern the country upon broad and generous principles. The government realized and he asked his hearers to do the same, that in the administration of such a vast domain as Canada, the question of space, and the economic interests of the different parts of the country must be taken into consideration. For this reason government must be broad and generous, for the purpose of arriving at a happy mean in all matters of legislation.

RESOLUTION OF CONFIDENCE PASSED

The conference, through Dr. Salmond, of Calgary, presented the Premier with an inspiring resolution of confidence in the government and himself, and in reply the Premier said that the meeting was one of the happiest he had attended in the course of his tour. He was delighted at the splendid attendance and at the cheerful tone of the gathering. It gave, he said, new heart and spirit to all those who were there representing the government.

In addition to the Premier, addresses were given by Hon. Colonel J. L. Ralston, who brought a message of greeting from the maritime provinces, and the Hon. Charles Stewart.

Lauds Stewart

Premier King paid a great tribute to the services rendered by the Hon. Charles Stewart, the member for West Edmonton, and said that it was almost impossible for him to describe to them how much it meant to Alberta to have Mr. Stewart as a member of the government. Time and time again Mr. Stewart had fought a strenuous battle upon matters which he held opinions concerning the good of the country as a whole.

W. S. Campbell presided over the conference, which was attended by some 60 delegates. Among those present were: J. T. Berry, Red Deer; T Crawford and W. J. Young, West Calgary; Dr. M. C. Salmond, West Calgary; T. McKercher, Olds; Captain J. C. Bowen, Edmonton; R. A. Blais, Norman Blue, Vegreville; E. T. Fisher, Edmonton; J. H. Sayers, Killoran; J. T. O'Brien, Ponoka; J. Fraser, Lacombe; Dr. W. A. Campbell, Ponoka; W. E. Turner, Ponoka; C. A. Rawston, Westlock; A. R. McLennan, Edmonton; J. A. McKinnon, J. A. Clarke, Edmonton; J. D. Harman, Tofield; H. In Knoxville, Tenn., two small boys in red sweaters sat in the domestic relations court room looking and wondering at the judge and the crowd.

Superior wisdom was to decide whether they should be sent to live in the mansion of a rich man in Chicago or remain in their grandparents' little farmhouse at the edge of a Tennesee cornfield.

Those who love them probably hoped they would go to the millionaire's mansion.

BIRTHDAY OF BOLSHEVISM CELEBRATED

Soviet Russia Observes Downfall of Once Great Kingdom

By JAMES A. MILLS
Associated Press Correspondent

MOSCOW, U.S.S.R., Nov. 7—Communist Russia today observed in traditional revolutionary fashion the twelfth anniversary of the 1917 upheaval which ushered Bolshevism into the world and destroyed the ancient Russian government.

To bring the event closer to the hearts if not to the stomachs of the people, the government gave bread and meat at cost price to every member of the population holding bread cards.

With the aid of millions of cards, red bunting, huge flaming placards, symbolical wooden floats, numerous speakers' stands and large portraits of Lenin, Marx and Stalin, historic Red Square was transformed into a mighty theatrical stage for the passing of a 12-mile-long military and civilian parade, led by the commander of the Moscow garrison.

This singing, shouting mass of humanity, carrying banners, flaming flags and chanting the Internationale, marched through the Gates of Resurrection, where formerly stood the famous chapel of the Siberian Vir-

U.S. Farmers To Establish New Agencies

Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—Co-operative grain marketing agencies are to be established within a few weeks in Minneapolis and Duluth by the Farmers' National Grain Corporation, the new nation-wide co-operative institution of the federal farm board, it was decided at a conference here Wednesday.

The conference was attended by representatives of the Farmers' Elevator association, wheat pool, and Farmers' Union groups of Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana. Sidney J. Cottington, of Stanhope, Iowa, president of the Farmers' National Grain Corporation, presided at the conference, and G. W. Connell, general manager of the Minnesota Wheat Growers' Co-operative Marketing association, acted as secretary.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Nov 7—A Wilford, minister of defence, told the house of representatives today that in the future New Zealand's conscientious objectors to military service would be assigned to service in the Salvation Army. He said provision would be made for giving the objectors to military training an alternate form of service with the Salvation Army.

MACALPINE ON WAY BACK TO CIVILIZATION

Party at Bathurst Inlet—Will be Taken to Winnipeg

Canadian Press

WINNIPEG, Nov. 7.—Safe at Bathurst Inlet, Col. C. D. H. MacAlpine and his seven mates will probably fly south to Baker Lake today. Weather reports from the inlet on the northern rim of Canada received simultaneously with news of the party's arrival at Bathurst, indicated that it would probably be possible to continue the journey toward civilization at dawn.

"Picked up party at Cambridge Bay and brought them to Bathurst," stated a meagre message received by Dominion Explorers at nine o'clock last night from Captain G. S. Blanchet, who commanded extensive search operations on the fringe of the Arctic circle during the MacAlpine crews' two month absence. Only on Sunday did the MacAlpine men reach Cambridge Bay, a settlement on the south shore of Victoria Island, off the north shore of Canada. The journey from Cambridge Bay to Bathurst is a 250-mile hop across Dease Strait, between Victoria Island and the mainland; over Kent Peninsula, which projects northward on the east side of Bathurst Inlet; and across half-frozen waters of the inlet in the southwest shore, where the radio post is located. Information from Ottawa, picked up by radio, indicated that half of the MacAlpine party was at the radio post and half at Burnside river, a Dominion Explorers gasoline cache, sixty miles south, at the extremity of the inlet.

Weather Favorable

Clear skies and good visibility were reported from Bathurst, and temperature was two degrees above zero. A low mist, stated the report, hung over

Insanity Frees Man Of Murder

Canadian Press

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Nov. 7.—Dr. Charles H. Twells was found not guilty of murder because of "insanity by a jury here last night which heard evidence in his trial on a charge of murder resulting from the fatal shooting of his two sons at his farm home near Picton, Ont., last January 2. Dr. Twells was tried on the charge of murdering his son Kenneth. A second charge of murder was traversed to the next assizes, together with a charge of shooting with intent laid as a result of the wounding of his brother-in-law, Arthur Corfield.

Dr. Twells was ordered kept in strict custody at Picton pending orders for his disposition from the lieutenant-governor-in-council. He will probably be sent to a provincial institution.

$50,000 FIRE SWEEPS TRAIL MAIN STREET

B.C. Town Hit by Flames Caused by Gas Explosion

Canadian Press

TRAIL, B.C., Nov. 7—Flames lashed through the main street of Trail today, burning into ruins the interior of two principal business blocks. Fire departments were called from neighboring towns, and citizens formed bucket brigades.

An explosion behind a garage was believed to have caused the fire, which was blasted across to the Vancouver cafe, and from there licked its way to the Salvation Army hall, curling crackling flames covering the three buildings.

Firemen placed the first damage at more than $50,000.

Workers at the Consolidated Smelter, the chief mining plant, were called to aid the firemen, who were beaten back by the fast spreading blaze.

Senate Votes To Cut Tariff On Pig Iron

Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7—The senate Wednesday voted to cut the tariff on pig iron from $1.12½ to 75 cents a ton in the first major defeat of the administration forces by the coalition opposition since rates were taken up. The vote was 47 to 30 for the 75 cent duty. The 75 cent rate, proposed by Senator Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, compares with 75 cents provided originally in existing law, but which was raised to $1.12½ by presidential proclamation and $1.50 proposed by the senate finance committee.

The house bill provided $1.12½.

Month Passes Without Word Of Two Planes

Searching Machine Last Seen Flying Into Bad Snow Storm

Canadian Press

OTTAWA, Nov. 7.—The department of national defence at noon was without word of today's progress in the search for the four missing fliers in the St. Felicien district of northern Quebec.

The last message received from Flying Officer Uhlman, of the Royal Canadian Air Force, in charge of search operations, said that the entire area in which the four men are thought to be lost had been covered.

Officials, however, thought that owing to bad visibility and generally unsatisfactory weather conditions which have prevailed in the district almost ever since the search was started, there was still a good chance that the men will be found in the area.

It was not thought likely that Pilot Officer J. L. P. Bonard, search flier, and his mechanic, Sergeant Forthey, who disappeared three weeks ago, could have gone very far from the spot where he was last seen flying into a snowstorm.

The other two men, lost now for over a month, are Pilot W. Cannon and Mechanic L. Lizotte, of the Curtis Reid flying service.

No Settlement In Sight On Oriental Ownership Of Land

Canadian Press

VERNON, B.C., Nov. 7.—The question of restricting ownership of land by Orientals in B.C. is too big to expect any settlement of it, in the opinion of J. W. Jones, speaker of the provincial legislature, as expressed here today before the annual convention of district "G" farmers' institutes He stated that he was heartily in favor of restriction, but he asked the delegates to define what they meant by "a feasible method of restriction" when they passed a resolution in favor of any feasible method justifiably restricting the ownership of land by Orientals.

Japan, as one of the five great powers, must, he said, be treated with respect. The birthrate of Japanese in the province was increasing, and they were land hungry. There were two thousand young Japanese in this province who wished to get married, and by the Lemieux Agreement this was rendered practically impossible. In industry and ability the Japanese had proved themselves equal to white people, and while they worked longer than whites would, and for lower wages, other classes of immigrants such as Europeans did the same thing.

Mr. McIntosh reached Edmonton this morning on a tour of inspection of the prairie branches of his company, which has warehouses and offices at Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon, Regina, Grande Prairie and other prairie points, and is also located in all the strategical centres in the interior of British Columbia.

"We have had a big year. Business conditions are good, and we are finding a steadily increasing demand for our food products, especially the Nabob brand which is now one of the leading brands in western Canada," he said.

Mr. McIntosh is leaving Edmonton tonight.

Women Jurors In Pantages Trial Were Influenced

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Cali., Nov. 7.—Three women members of the jury which convicted Alexander Pantages on a statutory charge, yesterday swore to affidavits charging that they were influenced and coerced into returning a verdict of guilty against the vaudeville magnate.

The jurors were Mrs. Christina D. Ulrich, Mrs. Wm. Ingles and Mrs. Lotta C. Steiner, whose affidavits were included in seven filed by Pantages' attorneys in his plea for a new trial.

The women swore they were influenced in switching their votes to guilty by the inclusion of the words "with clemency" in the verdict, believing such a decision would make it mandatory that Superior Judge Chas Fricke pronounce a light sentence.

The affidavits also charged that fear of caustic radio utterances against them by the Rev. R. P. Shuler also influenced their voting. Mrs Ulrich and Mrs. Ingles said one of the men on the jury used the alleged threat of Rev. Shuler's radio talks to coerce them.

Crowds Throng Station

Prime Minister Will Speak Here Tonight

Smiling and looking extremely fit, Right Hon. W. Mackenzie King responded warmly to the enthusiastic welcome accorded to him on his arrival at the Canadian National Railway depot at 10.50 last night.

From all sides friends and admirers pressed upon him, and extended their hearty greetings, for in spite of the hour being somewhat late, both station and building were crowded. The Premier's progress along the platform and to the outside of the building was in the nature of a triumphal march.

Train on Time

The train pulled into the depot punctually to the minute and the Prime Minister's private coach being well to the front, the waiting crowd had to adjourn to the west end of the platform. Immediately, on the Premier alighting from the train, a ring was formed and introductions took place, while the official welcome to the city was tendered by Mayor Bury. Old friends were recognized by the Premier, and in some cases he chatted with them for just a moment or two, expressing his pleasure at meeting again, and also in the fact that he was again in the west.

MANY SHARES RECOVER ON WALL STREET

Strong Buying Wipes Out Early Losses and Stocks Climb

Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—Strong buying support came into the securities markets today after prices of many leading issues had broken $5.00 to nearly $32.00 a share at the opening on what appeared to be the completion, at least temporarily, of the distress selling that has been overhanging the market for the past few days.

Most of the early losses were cut sharply and a long list of issues sold $1 to $13 a share above yesterday's final quotations in the last hour of trading.

Total sales on the New York stock exchange in the first two hours were 5,336,200 shares as against 3,340,700 in the same period yesterday, with the ticker running more than an hour behind the market.

Blocks of 5,000 to 75,000 shares of stock believed to represent the completion, at least temporarily, of the forced liquidation which has been overhanging the market, were thrown on the market regardless of cost at the opening.

No meeting of the banking group, headed by J. P. Morgan and company, which was organized October 24 to assure an orderly market, was planned for today.

Closing quotations of some of the leading stocks were: United States Steel $177.50, up $5.50; General Motors $43.50, up $3; General Electric $224, up $18.00; Radio $37.50, up $5; Montgomery Ward $62.50, up $5; Bethlehem Steel $93, up $6.50; American and Foreign Power $73, up $13; American Can $120, up $5; and New York Central $185, up $5.12.

British Govt. Cannot Intervene in Canadian National Railway Dispute

NO HELP FOR GRAND TRUNK STOCKHOLDERS

Under-secretary for the Dominions Replies to Question

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 7—The present government of Great Britain shares the view of former governments that it cannot intervene in the dispute between the Canadian National Railways and the British shareholders of the old Grand Trunk Pacific Railway company, Hon. Arthur Ponsonby, under-secretary for the Dominions, told the House of Commons Wednesday.

He spoke in reply to a question from Sir Kenyon Vaughan-Morgan (Conservative), East Fulham, who asked whether any correspondence had taken place in recent years with the prime minister of Canada regarding the transfer without compensation of the Grand Trunk perpetual stocks to the minister of finance of Canada, and whether, in view of the fact that the Grand Trunk held property in the city of Westminster, and control of this was transferred to the Canadian National Railways by Canadian order-in-council, representations should be made to the Canadian government in that connection.

Mr. Ponsonby replied no communication had been made to the Canadian prime minister except an informal one advising him of an interview given a deputation of Grand Trunk junior stockholders at the Dominion office in 1927. It was explained to the deputation that the Imperial government could not intervene.

The House of representatives, however, does not monopolize the habit of voting one way and drinking another. One distinguished eloquent senator voted against whiskey "whenever he was sober enough to do so."

However, nobody is perfect, and excellent laws are made by those who have no intention of being governed by them.

Three Members Of Bandit Gang To Die

Associated Press

BUFFALO, N.Y., Nov. 7—Sentences to die in the electric chair at Sing Sing during the week of Dec. 16, this year was imposed Wednesday upon three members of the so-called "Blue Ribbon" gang of bandits, convicted last week of shooting to death Ferdinand Fechter, Buffalo restaurant proprietor and robbing him of $8,000.

The three are Alex. Bogdanoff., Max Rsbarczyk and Stephen Grzechowiak. They were accused of shooting down Fechter in front of his home on July 27, in the presence of members of his family.

Defense attorneys have given notice of appeal, declaring they would carry their fight for the lives of their clients to the United States Supreme court if necessary.

gin. Over the portals of the gates today appeared a gigantic red anti-religious placard reading, "Down with the deceit of popes; give us Books instead of religion!"

Huge Red Flags

Over the slender steeples and the battlemented towers of the Kremlin fluttered huge red flags which, illuminated by a brilliant noonday sun, had the appearance of great flaming sheets of fire. Within the shadow of Lenin's now empty tomb an enormous red banner was flung to the wind, reading: "Proletarians of the World. Stand Under the Banner of the Communist Internationale! Forward to New Battles and to New Victories!"

The drone of scores of Red Army aeroplanes overhead mingled with the strains of military bands, the rumbling of dozens of military tanks and the staccato steps of marching soldiers imparted a distinctive martial touch to the scene.

Allegorical floats satirizing capitalism and imperialism and glorifying the triumphs of communism and labor were a distinctive part of the procession that required eight hours to pass.

The marchers were reviewed by such leading figures as Joseph Stalin, Alex. Rykoff, Bikhil Kalnin, Clemense Voroshiloff, A. Mikoyan and others who stood on a red-draped wooden platform erected around a bronze monument to Prince Pozharski and Kozma Minum, who freed Russia from the Poles early in the seventeenth century.

Many Gifts Made

Workmen's delegations from various parts of the Soviet Union presented trainloads of iron, steel, coal, grain, potatoes and textiles as gifts to the government.

On hundreds of banners carried by manifestants were slogans and catch words directed in favor of the government's five-year industrial stabilization plan and against Leon Trotzky, Bucharin and other members of the opposition.

Throughout the day, all shops, factories and government bureaus were closed, street traffic was suspended and everybody was given a holiday.

MacALPINE

the hummocky ice land to the north, but it was clear overhead. Conditions augured well for immediate continuation of the journey. As yet the Blanchet fliers and the MacAlpine men are some 2,000 miles distance from Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Three of Captain Blanchet's patrolling quartet made the journey to Cambridge Bay to bring out the new-found MacAlpine men. No message has indicated the identity of the pilots who manned the trio of machines, but the four pilots under Captain Blanchet's command are Roy Brown, William Spence, H. Hollicke-Kenyon, and Andy Cruickshanks. All four will proceed south when the journey is resumed.

A 450-mile jump faces the Blanchet phalanx in their next move toward civilization and Baker Lake, 300 miles west of Hudson Bay, is their goal. If weather conditions are good the four machines resting last night at Bathurst inlet will be at Baker Lake before another night has fallen. At the western end of Chesterfield Inlet, Baker Lake is some 600 miles north of Churchill, Bay terminus of the Hudson Bay railway.

Churchill in turn is about 1,000 miles north of Winnipeg.

To Go to Churchill

At present it is the plan of the fliers to proceed with their skil equipped machines as far south as Churchill, continuing to Winnipeg via the Hudson Bay Railway. If the plane of Pilot J. D. Vance, stationed at Baker Lake, for the past three weeks, is commissioned, he will fly to Chesterfield with the other four machines.

Officials of Dominion Explorers expressed the belief Wednesday that the party would be in Winnipeg by mid-November.

Though their brief message from Captain Blanchet was unimplemented, officials here were not at a loss to explain the division of the rescue planes between the Bathurst Radio Post and Burnside River Cache. They considered that the entire party would have ordinarily proceeded to Burnside, where ample accommodation is available. Under present circumstances, however, it was probably decided to have one machine halt at Bathurst in order to flash southward the news that the long lost MacAlpine crew had reached the mainland.

MANY HURT IN BATTLE WITH KU KLUX KLAN

Saskatchewan Town Scene of Pitched Fight Over Fiery Cross

Canadian Press

HUDSON BAY JUNCTION, Sask., Nov. 7.—Several persons were injured in a pitched battle here directed against members of the Ku Klux Klan when the Knights attempted to burn a fiery cross in the town. A report of the affair is being made to the attorney-general's department at Regina.

The fight occurred at a meeting scheduled to have been addressed by J. W. Rosborough, Imperial Wizard of the K. K. K., and started with a rush in the dark on men who were preparing to erect the cross.

Attackers and attacked became confused in the darkness, and members of the raiding party are reported to have injured one of their own members. One is said to have sustained injuries to the face and eyes which impaired his vision, and another was alleged to have had two ribs broken.

Klansmen are reported to have decided to stage another meeting at a later date, and if necessary will call reinforcements from lodges along the line and have mounted police present for protection.

NEW LOCK OPENED

PORT WELLER, Ont., Nov. 7.—Canadian history was made yesterday when the first craft was locked through Lock 1 of the New Welland ship canal to the level above, the operation being carried out without a hitch. The honor fell to the tug Martin H., which was transporting some steel gates.

soon as one outfit has completed its well, it will start another," Mr. McQueen declared.

"We have no definite announcement to make at the moment with regard to New Royalite or Dalhousie wells," he continued, "other than the assurance that all our drilling crews will be maintained on further development work. We are now drilling in Turner Valley, Highwood and Jumping Pond structures."

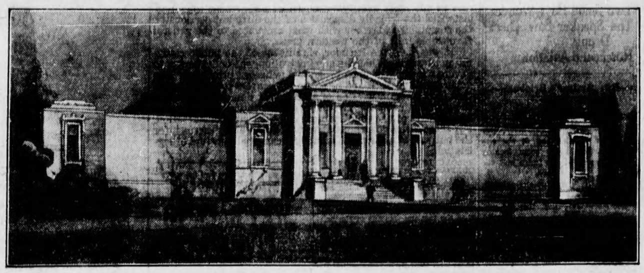
Mr. McQueen stated that no other structures were to be drilled on immediately, but reiterated his former statement of confidence in Turner Valley as issued a few days ago.

Imperial Oil has twenty-three drilling outfits operating simultaneously and the maintenance of this equipment means that the energetic drilling program of the company in 1929 will be continued unabated.

Mr. McQueen refused any comment on the Jumping Pond field. He drew attention to the steadily increasing monthly production from Turner Valley, over 100,000 barrels in October, which is about treble the production of a year ago. With wells now nearing the production horizons and many more drilling rapidly toward the lime, he expressed confidence that records would be broken again in 1930.

The favorite pet of the poet Burns was a sheep, while Rossetti leaned toward woodchucks, wombats, armadoles, kangaroos and chameleons.

Edmonton Mausoleum



To be erected on a beautiful site in Edmonton Cemetery by a Company with highly successful record.

Not only are we backed by a number of Edmonton's leading citizens, and have the full approval of the Edmonton Cemetery Authorities, but we have behind us a wonderfully successful record of similar projects in Eastern Canada. We have erected Community Mausoleums in Hamilton, Windsor, Stratford, Kitchener, Woodstock, Oshawa, Belleville, Owen Sound and many others. Those who have purchased space in the various Mausoleums we have erected can testify to the beauty and quality of those buildings and to their entire acceptability for the sacred purpose to which they are dedicated.

An Ancient Custom Modernized

Remarkably few people, until recent years, were familiar with the fact that Mausoleum Entombment was the method customarily employed by the leading individuals of ancient civilizations, for the disposal of human remains. But, during the last twenty years there has been, throughout all North America, a reawakening of interest in the subject. The inescapable horrors of earth burial are so disagreeable to contemplate by most people that there exists today, in our cultured centres of population, a strong desire to revive this better way, which has been made possible at low cost through community of effort. As a result of this there are now in operation in the United States and Canada nearly seventeen hundred Community Mausoleums, many of which are of enormous size.

Contrast of the Two Methods

Earth burial is a custom which became prevalent in Christian countries in the "Dark Ages" which followed the break-up of the Roman Empire. Everybody knows that, in earth burial, the casket is lowered into the soil, and everybody also knows what eventually happens to even the most durable of wood and metal which is buried in the earth. Everybody knows—and everybody shudders! No refined person can without dismay, contemplate the departed loved ones being subjected to all the disintegrating influences of the cold, damp, remorseless earth! Mausoleum Entombment is entirely different. The loved remains reposing in the closed casket are deposited in a compartment built into, and forming part of, the massive walls of a beautiful building so constructed as to be practically everlasting. The last services are held in a lofty, central chapel with the sunlight filtering through tall, cathedral windows of artistic stained glass. The crypt is sealed with a polished marble slab upon which the appropriate inscription is chiselled. Visitors can come and go at all times and seasons and always they find the peaceful, church-like serenity so entirely appropriate to the building. And all these advantages at no greater cost than ordinary earth burial with a fair grade of monument!

Pre-Construction Prices Now Available

Those who are thoughtful will make their reservations early and secure choice of locations at the present low pre-construction prices. There is no advantage in delay. Even before our first announcement many applications for space were registered. Since then we have received many others and we have been swamped with enquiries for particulars. Our campaign is now under way to secure reservations sufficient to build a structure to accommodate between 300 and 400 entombments—a structure really worthy of a progressive and cultured community like Edmonton.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1929

EDMONTON'S GUESTS

Right Hon. Mackenzie King and his colleagues in the Dominion Government are very welcome visitors to Edmonton on this as on former occasions. The people of this city yield to none in hospitality, nor in the deference that is due to public representatives and distinguished Canadian citizens. National leaders, of whatever party, are assured here of a friendly greeting, and a fair and attentive hearing of the views they advance; particularly if they come in a season when the public mind is not seething with the excitement generated by an election contest.

The Premier and his associates are on a speaking tour, with a view to presenting their record and policies at a time when this can be done with freedom from the distractions and partisan bias which are rife during the turmoil of an election campaign. Too much encouragement cannot be given to political leaders who undertake such missions in the "in between" seasons. These are the periods when information on public affairs can best be gained, when issues can be studied in an atmosphere of quiet, and when sound public opinion can best be built up. For this, as for other reasons, Edmonton people should turn out in great numbers to hear what the Premier and his colleagues have to say.

ALBERTA'S DEBT

One subject to which the legislature should begin to give some serious attention is that of the provincial debt. As shown by the public accounts, the net bonded debt of Alberta on March 31st, 1928 amounted to $87,741,931. During the year it grew $5,032,225, and at March 31st, 1929, it stood at $92,774,157. During the year there was paid out as interest and sinking funds on debt account $4,822,707. That is more money than was put into the construction of roads and bridges, despite the fact that highway construction was being carried out on a very extensive scale.

This situation is in no sense alarming, as evidenced by the favorable rates at which provincial securities are sold. But the process of debt accumulation cannot go on indefinitely. It cannot go on for another ten years at the present rate without incurring obligations which will absorb an abnormal part of the revenue, and compel curtailment of expenditure or increase of taxation. Now, when the revenue is buoyant and the province prosperous, is a good time to make capital expenditures out of current income, and to establish some fixed ratio between revenue and borrowings. The population of the province, it is to be borne in mind, is estimated at only 640,700, say 150,000 taxpayers.

SOME INFERENCES

Some interesting speculations are invited by the decision of the Privy Council that women are eligible for appointment to the Senate of Canada.

Are women really ambitious for class representation in the Senate, or were the appellants more concerned in establishing the complete political equality of their sex? There is only one woman in the House of Commons, one in the Legislature of Alberta, one in the Legislature of Manitoba, and none in any of the other provincial assemblies. The inference is at least permissable that women are more anxious for the abolition of the sex political barrier than they are for special representation in law-making bodies.

What about the abolition of the Senate? Women are traditionally conservative, inclined to follow precedent, and not disposed to sweep away established institutions. Now that they have a legal right to representation in the Senate, and will secure a "vested interest" in that body when women senators are appointed, mere man might logically conclude that the prospect of the upper house being wiped out of existence is thereby made somewhat more remote.

And what of the abolition of appeals to the Privy Council? In some quarters there has been an agitation to forbid such appeals, and to make the Supreme Court of Canada the court of final resort for Canadians. But the Supreme Court decided that women were not eligible to appointment to the Senate. The Privy Council reversed that decision; and in doing so handed out a line of reasoning which must cause the majority Supreme Court judges to wonder how they came to overlook a few relevant points in the case. Would representatives of women in the Senate vote to forbid appeals to the court whose decision established the political equality of their sex and made their own appointments possible?

Baby Letters

By EDGAR A. GUEST

Oh you may have your letters with the line "find check enclosed,"
And you may smile at letters which agree as you've proposed.
A friendly note is good to get. The mail's so full of things
That one can hardly over-praise the joy the postman brings,
But when you're far away from home, the letter best of all
Is filled with hugs and kisses in a youngster's awkward scrawl.

A President once wrote to me. His letter's in a frame
I've kept a few epistles sent to me by men of fame,
I've smiled to read the merry news which kindly hands have penned,
But to the final hour of life of letters there's no end,
Except to those entrancing notes your babe sits down to scrawl,
With pencilled hugs and kisses, and I count them best of all.

You only get them a few. With time's swift passing flight
In but another year or two she'll write as others write,
But now the mother guides her hand: "I love you, daddy dear!"
Sums up the news she tries to tell in letters quaint and queer,
And always printed boldly at the bottom of the sheet
Is a line of hugs and kisses just to make the letter sweet.

Time takes the joys we have away and newer joys bestows,
The lovely little bud of May, June blossoms as a rose,
The charms of childhood wisdom steals new loveliness to give
And so these childish messages have little time to live,
But of the letters humans pen the happiest are those
With hugs and kisses scrawled below—as every father knows.

Education

By GLENN FRANK

The doctrine of equality is having hard sledding among the critics.

The political critics contend that realistic politics is impossible except through a candid recognition of the fact that men are unequal.

Glenn Frank

The educational critics contend that most of the ills of education are due to a mistaken notion that all human beings are equal and that education should emphasize and educate their likenesses.

Dean Carl E. Seashore, in his study of higher education called Living and Learning in College, lists and launches vigorous attacks upon five arguments for equalitarian education, viz.:

First, some schoolmen contend that to treat all students alike is in the interest of democracy.

Dean Seashore contends that the essence of democracy is not equal distribution to all but "equal opportunities in proportion to capacity."

Second, some schoolmen contend that to treat all students alike is to safeguard the rights of every individual.

Dean Seashore contends that individuals do not have equal rights in education or in any other phase of life.

Third, some schoolmen contend that to treat all students alike is good for the poor student, on the assumption that hearing the good student recite inspires the poor student.

Dean Seashore contends that the superior student is more likely to humiliate the slow student by contrast than to inspire him by example.

Fourth, some schoolmen contend that treating all students alike is justified by results.

Dean Seashore admits that such procedure is likely to make all students pretty much alike, but by pulling the gifted student down towards the level of the poor student.

Fifth, some schoolmen contend that it is necessary to treat all students alike in order to keep the educational machine organized and running within reasonable limits of efficiency and economy.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Questions on Health and Diet Answered by Dr. McCoy, when addressed in care of The Edmonton Bulletin

EAR NOISES

Tinnitus aurium, or ear noises, are described by some as ringing, buzzing or whirring. These annoyances may occur in one ear or both for a short time or at all times. The continual noise in the ear is very annoying and causes the patient much anxiety and has even been known to cause suicide.

Frank McCoy

As a general rule, if the noise comes and goes, the patient feels better in the morning when the nerves are rested than in the evening when the nerves are fatigued.

Roaring in the ears may be present from a number of causes: Sometimes it is due to a pressure on the drum of the ear from ear wax that has formed a plug. It is frequently noticed in cases of migraine, anemia and neurasthenia. When the patient is anemic, having him take the reclining position will reduce the noise.

An inflammation of the ear will cause ear noises, as will accidents or blows on the ear, an excessive blood supply, high blood pressure or a catarrh of the eustachian tube. It is also noted in many cases of epilepsy and in congestion of the turbinates. Too much coffee, tea, tobacco or alcohol may cause it temporarily. Quinine is known to bring about a ringing of the ears. Any derangement of the heart or blood vessels may cause it. Telephone tinnitus is due to excessive use of the telephone, and some people are so sensitive to noise that after hearing rivet hammering or explosions for any length of time, even though the noise ceases, they continue to hear it.

In treating ringing of the ears the cause should be removed whenever possible. The nerves should be rested and strengthened. The patient should be encourabed to obtain plenty of sleep and avoid being overtired. It is also a good plan to follow a fasting regime as outlined in my cleansing diet course which was published a short time ago in this newspaper. This will assist in reducing the high blood pressure, if that is the cause, or in clearing out the catarrhal obstructions or inflammation. One should also have the ear examined to see if the trouble is caused by ear wax or some other mechanical pressure.

The only method of overcoming ear noises is to play fair with the ears by adopting those habits of eating, eliminating and exercising which will steady the nerves and give a healthy blood stream free from toxic wastes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: H. D. writes: "For several years I have been afflicted with sleep walking, and although I have been under a doctor's care during that time, I have not found relief. Please advise me."

Answer: Sleep walking is a form of dreaming where the brain is asleep but not the muscular system. It is usually caused by digestive disturbance and can be cured by following the course outlined in my article called "A Cleansing Diet," which I will gladly mail to you. You should be careful never to become over-tired.

Question: Mrs. L. S. V. asks: "Are there any special foods one could eat that would bring more color to the hair when it is beginning to turn grey?"

Answer: The use of plenty of green vegetables unquestionably has some effect on preventing the greying of the hair, but there is no one single food I know of which is a specific to be used in keeping the hair its natural color.

Question: Mrs. J. W. writes: "My little girl's foot was injured during childbirth. The nerve on the inner side of the limb seems to have been stunned. She wears half inch pads or "lifts" in that shoe, and the orthopedist who is taking care of her wants to operate before she is three years old. He wants to transplant the tendons, as the muscle on the outside is stronger than that on the inside, and pulls the foot to one side. What is your advice?"

Answer: If the nerve of your little girl's foot has been injured but not entirely destroyed, it could probably be benefited by the use of properly administered sinusoidal electrical treatments. Sometimes, manipulative treatments are also helpful. I would advise you to try these methods before resorting to the operation as the transfer of tissue sometimes results in improper control of the foot. If the electrical treatments do not prove beneficial, you could, of course, try the operation.

CLUB FOR EDMONTON

Editor Bulletin:

With the approach of the winter activities of the various Scottish societies in Edmonton, there is again revived the question of a club in the metropolis. For fully six years the St. Andrew's Society has had this object in view, but the sum in hand for leasing and furnishing permanent premises is regarded as a slender nucleus for the purpose. Now that three or more Scottish societies are finding weekly meetings possible and welcomed, the general impression is that if they combined their resources they would secure the support of other combinations and so make the ideal of a Scottish club possible. It is being realized more than ever that as individual units none of the 10 Scottish societies in Edmonton can achieve success as promoters of a national club, but as one combination, the scheme is more than probable having regard to the fact that they have as a whole an enrolment of some hundreds of members and very substantial funds.

Astrology

Planetary Influences on Friday for ALL

Favorable but risky for speculation. Close attention is essential in all financial affairs. Avoid risk, aggressiveness and belligerence in any undertakings. Unfavorable for the signing of contracts. Propitious for colossal financial schemes and for any activities dealing with oils or chemicals, and with the occult. Favorable for taking journeys.

For Those Whose Birthday Is Friday

If you were born on November 8 you have a vigorous, keen, synthetic mind, with an unusual restlessness that requires changes of environment. Avoid aggressiveness and belligerence and the unconscious dogmatism that you are likely to display and that brings you at daggers drawn with those who might be of greatest assistance to you. Consideration for those in a less affluent position is necessary.

Your best efforts should be expended in any work dealing with law, mathematics, organizing, diplomacy, literature or archeology or as antiquarian, jeweler, financier, designer, surgeon, engraver, interior decorator, horologist and magnetic healer. The most favorable periods for attempting anything reasonable in natur where beneficial result is required are the last months of 1929, the fall and winter of 1930, the spring of 1931 and the fall and winter of 1932.

Rene Viviani, Born November 8, 1861

An example of a person born on November 8 is Rene Viviani, French statesman and former premier, whose horoscope indicates a scientific pioneering, dogmatic, austere mind. There is much of the organizer and financier indicated. This, together with an ardent love nature and a certain unconventional Bohemianism, makes the man. Other persons born on this day were Mohammed, founder of Mohammedanism, and Prince Erik of Denmark.

Planetary Conditions for November 9

Excellent day for financial ventures. Unfavorable for commercial affairs.

Keeping Mentally Fit

CAPTAIN OF MY NERVES

I have been reading your articles daily for about a year, and I feel that you can help me more than any one I know. About two years ago I suffered from what the doctors called a "breakdown due to exhaustion." I had been working very hard for a year at an office position which I endured rather than enjoyed. I am 23 years old. The breakdown took this form: One day I became very weak and faint without really sinking into unconsciousness. The doctor prescribed a rest in the country. He stressed the fact that I was not sick, only tired and run down. I went away for six weeks and then went back to work, convinced that it was only my physical health that had suffered. I was one of those foolish people who scoff at "nerves." After I returned to work my real troubles began. I became depressed, afraid of insanity and heart trouble and the victim of many other terrors which I have since learned are symptoms of neurasthenia. One of the most pronounced was a very unnatural hunger. This is usually accompanied by the fear that I will faint unless I get some food at once. I went to a doctor, a man who is very capable and efficient and understanding. He told me that I was physically sound but that I suffered from fear.

This knowledge has helped me somewhat in the past months. My attitude toward my illness has changed, but no amount of reasoning and determination to disregard symptoms has succeeded in curing this neurasthenia. Will it finally go or has it become part of my personality and part of my physical make-up? If I could look forward to a time when I shall have outgrown these feelings completely I feel certain I could face life more courageously. Will you please reply to me through your column? I thank you sincerely for all the help you have extended me indirectly by your fine understanding and sympathy for your other correspondents. O.E.G.

Reply

This is an understanding letter and that strong desire to resume and "become an independent person" will conquer in the end. It's hard for a neurasthenic to read those noble lines, "I am the master of my fate; I am the captain of my soul," with any conviction; for, when your soul is a bundle of nerves, making your fate a chronic rebellion, you feel the battles lost outnumber those won. The hardest thing in the world is to keep up a losing fight. It may be helpful to consider neurasthenics who have won. I have said a hundred times that what we fight is symptoms; what we suffer from is the condition that creates those symptoms and makes them seem so formidable.

Joseph Jastrow

It is a consolation to know that the symptoms run true to type. No matter which you have, you are convinced that that is the worst. That nervous hunger is typical; and the feeling of faintness; I have known a dozen cases, and one whose European trip was spoiled because of the irregular hours of eating while traveling. But the worst case was that of a man of high attainments who gave up his job and devoted his life to his health.

This man found that quickly swallowing a raw egg relieved that feeling. He had a box made to carry the egg, and never went out without it. He couldn't walk far, and rested most of the day. After being taken in hand by a wise physician that man climbed one of the high peaks of our eastern mountains, and did it on occasional sandwiches carried in his pack. But he was carried along gradually by a devoted wife and an understanding physician, philosopher and friend. He was financially independent. He had a fortunate combination to see him through; but it was a fight for years, none the less.

Neurasthenics break down under emotional stress, under physical stress. They work too hard—that is, too hard for them—and, if they lack the emotional stimulus (a job "endured rather than enjoyed"), the stress is so much the greater. There are all sorts of combinations; no two cases are alike. But the common cause is a fatigued nerve cell; and the common aggravation is getting back to work and keeping at it before recovery has become complete. A fatigued nerve cell just finds the weakest spot in your armament and wrecks it. Here it happens to be the sensation of hunger and faintness; and fears have so many relations—all poor relations—that, when one is in trouble, it summons all the rest. They all belong to the family of misery. They can't all be scared away by the light of day or reasoning like the ghosts that vanish at the cock's crow. But they will trouble less and less as the periods of daylight get longer and the dark clouds lift.

How to shorten the process of recovery is a fine technique; and that's the reason why any detailed advice must be a matter of circumstances and personality. What O. E. G. and all the army of the handicapped need is a guide, philosopher and friend—some one to lean on, some one to see them through. But they need wise rest and wise work as well as wise counsel. Playing the game with loaded dice isn't easy, but it can be done.

On This Date—

NOVEMBER 7TH

Last execution at Tyburn, November 7, 1783. The exact spot on which Tyburn Tree stood has been a matter for much discussion. A house at the southeast corner of Connaught Square has been identified with it, probably correctly. For years after the last execution took place there the neighborhood was regarded as unsavoury, and only the pressure of growing London eventually overcame general distaste for a residence in that quarter. Smithfield had been the popular place of execution until the merits of Tyburn came to be recognized, and then such a galaxy of criminal talent found its way there that nowhere around London could you have found more thrilling entertainment, refreshment, and relaxation than were provided in the sylvan pastures around the gibbet. Anyway that was the attitude of our ancestors in the matter, judging from the records of Tyburnia. Execution day was a sort of carnival, and the populace looked for the chief actor to join in the fun. Those bold, bad boys of the road, the highwaymen, seldom let them down in this respect, for they generally went to the scaffold merrily and jauntily, dressed in their best clothes, the recipients of nosegays from young women in the crowd. Some famous names in the natural order of their talents found their way to Tyburn—Felton, the assassin of Buckingham, Lord Ferrers, Dr. Dodd, Claude Duval, Jack Sheppard and Jonathan Wilde and a host of others. Then there were the celebrated executioners, Jack Ketch and Derrick, who incidentally gave his name to that temporary crane used on ships. Wonderful how things derive their names! Reflecting seriously, it is extraordinary how the spirit of carnival seemed to animate this dreadful spot and its sorry business. All sorts of comic stories linger around the annals of Tyburn. We are either more civilized today or have a wider field for amusement. Writers and poets kept up the strain, thus Swift in his Tom Clinch going to be hanged:

> "As clever Tom Clinch, while the rabble was bawling,
> Rode stately through Holborn to die in his calling,
> He stopped at the 'George' for a bottle of sack,
> And promised to pay for it—when he came back!"

Goofy Doings of Historic Persons

By J. P. GLASS

Sir Isaac Newton Couldn't Remember When He Hadn't Eaten

"Newton was startled when he saw only bones, shook his head, and said: 'How absent-minded I really am. I thought I had not dined'."

Sir Isaac Newton gave all his working hours to science. His thoughts constantly travelled toward the solution of some problem in which he was interested with the result that he unconsciously frequently made a laughable figure of himself.

For instance, he was once riding horseback to his home at Colsterworth and, coming to a hill, for some absurd reason—perhaps out of consideration for his horse—decided to dismount and walk up, leading the willing steed behind him.

At the top of the hill he decided to remount. Turning, however, he found he had been leading only the bridle. His horse had slipped out of it and gone off to graze on an attractive bit of grass by the roadside.

His absent mindedness became proverbial. It first began to be noticed while he was at college.

His fellows had to watch him, for when he dined in the hall on public days he was likely to show up at table in shoes down at the heel, stockings which were not fastened up, a surplice on, and his hair uncombed.

Very frequently he would, while on his way to the dining hall, walk through the wrong door and find himself in the open air. This always made him recollect where he was bound.

"No, no," he would mutter, "this is wrong."

Hastily, so that no one would notice his mistake, he would re-enter. But by the time he had passed through the door again he would have forgotten what he wanted to do and return to his room. Buried in thought he would not even notice that he had not dined.

In later years he frequently sat on the edge of his bed hours after he had awakened, lost in calculations.

Someone would have to remind him to dress and come to breakfast.

Strangely enough, no matter how many meals he missed, he always ate sparingly. And like as not he would stand instead of sit while dining. Perhaps these things helped him to live to a ripe old age.

His intimate friend, Dr. Stupely recorded a most amusing anecdote of Sir Isaac.

Dr. Stupely one day was to dine with the scientist. A servant showed him into the dining-room and served the dinner, as Sir Isaac was expected to appear at once. However, he did not come.

After a time, Dr. Stupely lifted the cover concealing a plump chicken. Being very hungry he started to eat and presently had devoured the whole fowl. He then whimsically put the bones back on the platter, restored the cover and waited for Newton.

The latter appeared not long after, passed the compliments of the day and then lifted the cover. He looked startled when he saw only bones, shook his head, and said:

"How absent-minded I really am. I thought I had not dined."

Tories Protest Labor Government's Attitude on Question

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 7.—Whether the subject be resumption of relations with Russia, Imperial preference or the Egyptian treaty, the Labor government declines to make public the correspondence exchanged with the governments of the Dominions.

Hon. Arthur Ponsonby, under secretary for Dominion affairs, in parliament yesterday announced His Majesty's government shared the view of its predecessors—"that frank and confidential exchar of information and views between the several governments of His Majesty on current international questions which are essential features of the conduct of foreign policy, cannot but be seriously hampered if correspondence on each occasion is to be conducted on the basis that it may have to be published."

The statement aroused a storm of Conservative protest. One questioned why the same rule was not applied to the confidential communicatic with Lord Lloyd before the latter's resognation as high commissioner in Egypt. "Egypt is not a Dominion," was the reply from the government benches.

L. Hore-Belisha, members for Plymouth Devonport, as[illegible] when the government had adopted a policy of secret diplomacy. "What are you afraid to publish?" challenged Hon. Oliver Locker-Lampson, another Conservative. But the government held its position.

Lords Debate

The House of Lords was crowded on Tuesday when Lord Reading, former Viceroy of India, initiated a debate on the action of his successor, Baron Irwin, in affirming the British government's intention of granting India full Dominion status in the course of time. Peeresses and the public crowded the galleries and Sir John Simon, chairman of the Statutory Commission, and perhaps the man most keenly interested, followed the debate.

Lord Reading asked the Labor government's reasons for "the extraordinary course" in making a pronouncement on Dominion status for India without first consulting the Simon Commission, which has not yet made its report public. Lord Reading emphasized he did not object to Dominion status for India. He thought the use of the term in this instance, however, was fraught with considerable danger.

To Dispel Doubts

Lord Parmoor, president of the council, replied on behalf of the government that the pronouncement was made because the Viceroy believed it was necessary in view of the troubled political atmosphere in India and in order to dispel Indian distrust in regard to the British policy. The government had informed the Simon Commission of the intended action, he declared, but the Simon Commission had not wished to be associated in the correspondence in connection with this reaffirmation of the British purpose.

Young Sion Boy Claimed By Death

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

SION, Alta., Nov. 7.—Great sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Dunstall over the loss of their youngest boy, who died in the Edmonton hospital. The body was brought to Sion, and interred in St. Luke's churchyard A large number attended and many beautiful flowers covered the casket. Rev. N. Bateman, from Barrhead, conducted the service.

Miss Snowden, a lady missionary, who came from England last May, and has been visiting various districts, holding Sunday school, has been calling on the children in this parish and helping by leaving literature.

Leonard Cailes, from Calgary, is spending his vacation with his uncle here.

Mr. Amrosa met with an accident, and cut his hand badly. He was taken to the Onoway hospital to have it attended to.

A dance was held at the Glenford schoolhouse. There was quite a good attendance and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

One of the greatest waterfalls in the world is Sutherland Falls, in New Zealand, which is 1904 feet high.

Auto Runs 59 Miles On Gallon of Gas

Automobile engineers who worked for years in an effort to reduce gasoline consumption have found the solution in a marvelous invention that fits all cars. An actual test made by one of the engineers showed 59 miles on a gallon of gas. Thousands of car owners have already installed this new invention. They not only report amazing gas savings but are also surprised to find quicker pick-up, instant starting, smoother running motors and disappearance of carbon. E. Oliver, 999 - 2409 E. Third St., Milwaukee, Wisc., for a limited time is offering a free device to those who will help introduce it. He also needs men everywhere to make over $100 weekly in their own territory taking care of local business. Write him at once for free sample and big money making offer. ***

Nova Scotians Hold Smart Reception For Col. Ralston

Natives of Maritimes Greet Minister of Militia At Macdonald Affair

From the Bay of Fundy to Cape Breton and Halifax, the sons and daughters of Nova Scotia gathered in the Palm room of the Macdonald on Wednesday afternoon to greet Col. J. K. Ralston, minister of militia and defence, and Mrs. Ralston. The affair was delightfully informal, all having an opportunity to meet and talk with the cabinet minister from Nova Scotia of old associations and old memories. Mrs. Ralston wore a smart gown of lace and chiffon velvet in tones of brown. Hon. Chas. Stewart, Alberta's cabinet minister, was also present.

Unity of Canada Great Purpose

The unity of Canada is the great purpose of the Dominion, Col. Ralston said, each province making its own contribution to this end. Nova Scotians in the west, as well as those at home, playing their part. He refrred to the great progress which Nova Scotia is making at this time.

Mrs. K. C. McLeod sang a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Clarence Miller. Mr. Gerald Pelton introduced Colonel Ralston and other members of the committee were Mrs. J. Clyde Macdonald, Mrs. E. C. B. Paint Your Face
From the Inside Out

Don't be content to buy a standardized complexion. Awaken your skin to life and loveliness with proper care. That rose-leaf tone and texture we all envy just means healthy active cells and tissues and a skin freed of poison by brisk circulation. To overcome an oily condition and to brighten and clarify a sallow, faded complexion try this three times a week. Get a little peroxine powder from your chemist. Apply hot cloths to the face and then rub gently with the powder using a rotary motion. Follow with hot and then cold water. Apply a good cream (We recommend Cerol crème.) This helps to restore that dry, velvety finish to the skin, improves its texture and brings natural colour to the cheeks. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. c6

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. Service Drug Stores and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.

Curbs Strains

For horses suffering from inflamed, swollen joints, sprains, bruises, soft bunches, boils, poll evil, quittor, fistula and infected sores, use Absorbine. It is economical and effective, will not blister or remove hair, and the horse can be worked during treatment. Booklet on the horse sent free. $2.50 per bottle at your druggist's or general merchant's. W. F. Young, Inc., Lyman Bldg., Montreal

ABSORBINE
Heals Cuts and Sores

"My dear, that has QUITE gone out!"

"What, lipstick?"

"No, but lipstick that's always coming off!"

The modern woman, with her active, energetic life and pressing necessity always to look her best, cannot be bothered with lipstick that needs continual application, and, still worse, leaves tell-tale stains on everything her lips touch.

She uses Kissproof, the modern waterproof lipstick that, once on, stays on until removed with cold cream at bedtime. Kissproof gives lips the rich, crimson glow that is youth's rightful dowry Hot soup or tea make no difference to its lasting bloom. You can bathe and swim, and come out of the water knowing that you lips will look their loveliest.

Every woman—whether she has used lipstick before or not—should try this totally different beauty aid—so lovely—so natural. At all toilet counters.

Kissproof

Let your eyes be beautiful, too! Touch up the lashes and brows with Delica-Brow, making them appear longer, thicker—making your eyes sparkle with new life. Harmless. Waterproof. Black or brown, at all toilet counters.

Gas In Stomach Hurts the Heart

Thousands of Cases of Heart Failure Are Caused by Acute Indigestion Says Medical Writer

Gas pressure from sour, acid, upset stomach is not only nauseating and highly uncomfortable but some day it may prove fatal!

When your meals are followed by bloating, a feeling of fullness or pressure, shortness of breath and pains around the heart, you may be sure that the acid condition of your stomach is producing a GAS that is pushing upwards and crowding your heart. That's the reason for the shortness of breath and sharp, shooting pains.

Whether young or old, the presence of stomach gas is truly serious and should always be given prompt and careful attention.

To quickly banish gas, cleanse and sweeten the stomach, neutralize the acidity — nothing is better than the daily or "as needed" use of ordinary Bisurated Magnesia. It gives almost instant relief.

Any good druggist can supply Bisurated Magnesia, in powder or tablet form, at very small cost — but be sure you get BISURATED Magnesia — recommended by Doctors and Druggists throughout the civilized world for more than 15 years.

Dr. Wallace Gives Address to Philosophical Society on Wednesday

"Our only key to the past is the careful observation of the common things of today," stated Dr. Wallace in his address to the Philosophical society on Wednesday night.

"Philosophy is in all things. The philosopher moves everywhere, measuring the earth, the deeps of the seas, examining the stars and inquiring into all things."

From the earliest times, the speaker stated, man has been weighing in his mind the cause and effect of things, and trying, through reasoning, to relate the previous event to the subsequent event. During late years there had been a noteworthy change of viewpoint in science. The scientific mind was becoming increasingly dissociated from the old idea of supernatural determination. The basis of the new thought was that there was a strict uniformity throughout nature. Happenings were entirely conditioned by antecedent events.

No Recurrences in Nature

In this reasoning man finds himself faced with the fact that it is beyond his power to analyze all antecedent happenings. Observations might show that particular conditions give rise to certain phenomena. Representations for the purpose of experimentation were not replicas, but only similar. "There is no recurrence of phenomena in nature. There is a similarity, but no two occurrences could be truly identical."

Only those antecedents which were of preponderating importance have entered into man's attempts to estimate the factors behind result. Frequently, inter-related phenomena, due to independent causes, were considered wrongly.

The theory of determinism, which he likened to the creed of pre-destination, holds that Nature is a machine, and that there is an inevitable succession of events. The translation of the theory from the material world into human affairs shows the relationship which exists between them.

"The nature of operation of the first cause has been left for the mind of the philosopher to grapple with." Here philosophy has advanced general conclusions.

Progress in Geology

Inter-relating of probable causes and effect was frequently a mental concept, due to the observation of the phenomena. Certain events transfuse to other events, and there can be no absolute dependence or independence traced between them.

Many of the present accepted rules are scarcely more than estimations of probabilities. The processes of nature are continual, and that they occur normally they must do so gradually.

Lyle, in the nineteenth century, prepared the way for an epoch of progress in geology. Rutherford brought forward his findings in connection with the atom and the electrons, and thus set a whole new train of scientific thought in motion.

"The laws of averages and their formulae are not casual. Individual freedom is still inconsistent with the multitude." The group is considered with tolerable assurance, but the members of it, if subject to volitions of their own, can destroy its uniformity.

"The last word has not been spoken. The scientist and philosopher will continue to strive with the problem of the why and the wherefore as long as new knowledge presents itself."

First Aid Classes For Women Commence At "Y" On Friday

A women's class of instruction in First Aid to the Injured will be organized on Friday, November 8, at 8:00 p.m., in the Y.W.C.A., under the auspices of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Those desirous of taking this course of instruction are requested to attend, or apply to W. J. Hill, inspector, the Workmen's Compensation Board, phone 6167, when fuller and further information will be furnished.

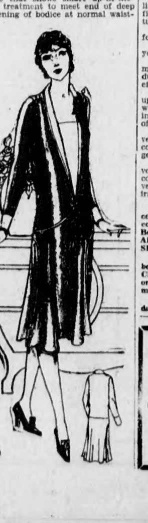
The only charge in connection with this class to the applicant is that she furnish herself with a first aid manual and one triangular bandage.

All intending to take this course of instruction are kindly requested to make early application. Competent medical and practical instructors will take charge of this class, which will be held one evening per week for a period of 8 weeks, when an examination will take place, successful students receiving the St. John Ambulance Assn. certificate and also the Industrial First Aid certificate issued by the Workmen's Compensation Board.

A Lucille Lorraine Style

Styled at Paris
Pattern Made at New York

A new silhouette in Princess suggestion with a long-waisted molded bodice that shows smart up-in-the-front treatment to meet end of deep V opening of bodice at normal waistline.



1370

The skirt is slightly flared with godets inserted at either side.

A vestee and shawl collar breaks the line through bodice, thus giving the figure length. The shoulders have pin tucks. Sleeves have fitted cuffs.

You'll like Style No. 1370 especially for all-around daytime occasions.

It is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

It is sketched as original Paris model in black crepe satin with the dull surface used for contrasting effect.

For formal afternoons, it will make up beautifully in black sheer velvet with the vestee of sheer metal cloth in beige shade with collar and cuffs of self-fabric.

Hunter's green faille silk crepe with vestee in acquamarine shade is a new combination particularly pleasing for general wear.

Petunia shade in canton crepe with vestee of self-fabric with the shawl collar and cuffs of matching sheer velvet which is also used for piping, is irresistible.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of TWENTY CENTS (20c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE, NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our LAST FASHION BOOK will be sent upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS in coin. Address all mail orders to Pattern Department, Edmonton Bulletin.

McDougall L.A. Plans Anniversary Dinner

Conveners of committees for the anniversary dinner on November 18 will meet with the executive of McDougall Ladies' Aid on Tuesday to make final arrangements, it was announced at the meeting in the club rooms of the church on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Pendleton had charge of the devotional exercises. Reports of work proved most satisfactory, and it was announced that the stained glass windows had been purchased by the Aid for the church, and would be installed shortly. Mrs. J. H. Lines and Mrs. C. E. Morris were appointed a committee to make arrangements for the bazaar on December 6 and 7. It was decided to postpone the rummage sale, as a suitable place could not be found.

Thirty social calls were reported by the visiting committee.

Much regret was expressed over the resignation of Mrs. T. Taylor, former social convener, owing to ill health.

It was reported that the banquet tendered the laymen's convention, and attended by 363, had been most successful financially.

A few moments' silent prayer was observed for the late Mrs. Hardisty, vice-president for the first McDougall Ladies' Aid, for the late Mrs. H. S. Hanna, and for the late Miss Osborne.

Peter Rabbit Calls Buster Bear a Coward

By THORNTON BURGESS
(Copyright)

"Fraidy Fraidy! You don't dare!
You're a coward, Buster Bear!"

Now you wouldn't suppose that any one would dare to say such a thing of Buster Bear, would you? Anyway, you wouldn't suppose that any one who couldn't fly would dare to say such a thing, and right to Buster's face at that. You know it is a pretty serious thing to call anybody a coward. Paddy the Beaver, floating lazily in his pond deep in the Green Forest, could hardly believe his ears. And then, when he saw who it was who dared to call Buster Bear a coward, Paddy just gasped foolishly with surprise and a little wavelet washed down his throat and made him choke and almost strangle.

"Well, I never!" exclaimed Paddy, when he could get his breath. "What is this world coming to?" Then he laughed until he came very near to choking again. "To think," he gasped, "to think of any one like Peter Rabbit, afraid of his own shadow, daring to call Buster Bear a coward!"

But it was true, as Paddy could see

"I'm not a coward," growled Buster in his deepest grumbly-rumbly voice.

and hear for himself. Peter was dancing about in front of Buster Bear and shouting that little rhyme in the sauciest way. And Buster Bear was growing angrier every minute. No one likes to be called a coward, not even when they are very weak and small, and have reason to be afraid. And when one is as big and strong as Buster Bear nothing can be worse than to be called a coward.

"I'm not a coward," growled Buster Bear in his deepest grumbly-rumbly voice. "When I catch you, Peter Rabbit, I'll teach you to show more respect to your betters."

"When you catch me it will be a cold, cold day," retorted Peter, nimbly jumping out of the way as Buster rushed at him. "You ARE a coward, a great, big coward, and you know it. You are afraid of Farmer Brown's Boy, and you're afraid of that hunter who has been making so much trouble for the rest of us in the Green Forest and onthe Green Meadows, and you know it.

"Fraidy! Fraidy! You won't dare!
You're a coward, Buster Bear!"

Peter nimbly dodged into a great hollow log, and while Buster worked himself into a great rage as he tried to tear the log open with his great claws Peter slipped out at the other end unseen and hid behind a big stump where he could peep and see what Buster was doing. He chuckled to himself as he watched Buster rip and tear the old log. Once he shivered at the thought of what those great claws would do to him if they ever got hold of him. But he didn't intend that they ever should.

By and by Buster paused to get his breath. "No one but a coward would waste his time trying to catch a little fellow like me," said Peter.

Buster Bear whirled and his face was all wrinkled with anger so that he showed all his great, white teeth. He was just plain mad. He had lost his temper completely. He was just the maddest Bear ever was. It was worse to have that same little upstart fool him in this way. Buster just couldn't contain himself. He fairly roared with rage.

Now nothing is so foolish as to give away to rage. Peter didn't have any trouble at all in keeping out of Buster's reach because Buster was so mad that he didn't stop to think, and just rushed this way and that way blindly.

"You know you are a coward," taunted Peter. "If you aren't a coward you would drive that hunter out of the Green Forest. He will be sure to come hunting in the Green Forest soon and you'll have a chance to prove that you're not what I say you are—a coward. Good night, Buster Bear. I hope you'll have pleasant dreams."

With that, Peter Rabbit started back home as fast as he could go, lipperty-lipperty-lip. Getting Buster angry was all a part of a plan Peter had thought out.

BEAUTY QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Coiffure for a Thin Face

DEAR MISS LEEDS—(1) My face is thin. Should I wear my bob with a fluffy or flat wave? (2) I am 5 feet 3 1-2 inches tall and 35 years old; what should I weigh? (3) I have medium reddish-brown hair brown eyes and a sallow complexion. What colors are becoming to me? (4) What styles of cloths will make me look stouter, as I am underweight?

B. BOBBY.

Answer—(1) Your coiffure should be somewhat fluffy. The waves should be deep rather than flat. Do not have a fuzzy effect, of course. You might have a center part with a curl on your forehead. Show the lobes of your ears. (2) The average weight for your age and height is between 130 and 135 pounds. If, however, you are of naturally slender build your correct weight is probably below the figures given, say at 125 pounds. If you are below that weight, however, you should try to build yourself up. (3) Use a little rouge and powder to take away the sallow appearance. There is no excuse for exhibiting a sallow skin these days. The leading fall colors seem to be dark browns and deep greens; both are becoming to your type. Black and wine are also much used now, but they are not so flattering to your skin. You may wear cinnamon and Tudor browns, Holland and navy blue, terra cotta, Nile green, palm and English green, coral sand, title green, peach, dull old rose, brownish reds, ecru, deep cream eggshell, dull orchid, rust. (4) One way to make yourself look stouter is to wear plenty of underclothing. The present vogue for coat suits is flattering to your slender figure. Thick and rather stiff fabrics, like rough tweeds, velveteen and heavy satin, will give the desired bulk to your figure. Choose skirts with flares, shirring, knife pleats all around or tiers of flounces, draped effects and berthas, round necklines and choker beads will help you look wider.

LOIS LEEDS.

Advantage of Overweight in Youth

Dear Miss Leeds—I am 12 years old 5 feet 2 inches tall and weight 116 pounds. My bust measure is 30 inches. How much overweight am I?

BARBARA.

Answer—Do not worry about being overweight, my dear. You are about ten pounds above the average weight for your age and height, but this does not mean that you should reduce. Statistics show that it is better for one's health to be a little overweight than at all underweight during the growing period of life. You are probably more heavily built than the average girl, so that it is natural for you to be a bit heavier.

LOIS LEEDS.

Bust Development

Dear Miss Leeds—I am 17 years old and 5 feet 3 inches tall. My bust measures only 32 inches. How can I develop it?

BETTY O.

Answer—If you are below 118 pounds in weight, you need to build yourself up before you can expect to have a larger bust measure. Exercises like swimming and tennis that bring the arms and shoulders into play are good for developing the chest. Constant practice of correct posture will also help you greatly. Hold your figure as tall as you can and breathe deeply.

COLLEGE RUSH PARTIES

Miss Q., a college freshman, has been invited to the rush parties of two sororities. The invitations are in card-form with the answer-request letters, R.S.V.P. One party is to be given in the afternoon; the other at night on the same day. Should acceptances and dress be formal or informal? Who passes on a girl's eligibility to be admitted to a sorority?

Since the invitations are formal, the responses should follow suit, with lines spaced this way:

Miss Dorothy Quincy
accepts with pleasure
Epsilon Phi Theta's
kind invitation for
Saturday, the sixteenth of November,
at three o'clock
(or at eight o'clock)

Afternoon dress is correct for the three o'clock affair; a simple evening gown may be worn at the eight o'clock party.

The newcomer is nominated by a member of the sorority. After acquaintance has been extended by means of the rush parties, the committee on membership submits its recommendation (or adverse decision) at the next sorority meeting.

The Pennsylvania Hotel, in Philadelphia, operates under a charter originally granted to it by George II of England in 1751.

DOROTHY DIX

One of those statisticians, who is always taking the joy out of life by pinning a price-tag on all of our little indulgences, has just been figuring out how much money it costs the men in this country every year to beautify themselves.

So many millions for keeping a razor edge on their coat sleeves and trousers. So many millions for shaves and haircuts. So many more millions for facials and manicures. So many additional millions for hair tonics and lotions and perfumes and sweet-scented powders, and so on, and on.

It comes to a truly staggering sum in the aggregate, but what of it? Who begrudges it? Every dollar of it is money well spent, and when one looks about and sees the number of sloppy, slouchy men who are in crying need of the barber and the presser, one feels that a few additional billions could be expended with profit to the individuals and pleasure to the beholders in sprucing up the masculine sex.

And pray why shouldn't men prettify themselves? Heaven knows they need it, for not every man is born a John Barrymore any more than every woman is born a Billie Dove. Most of us need to circumvent Nature and supply through art the deficiencies that the stingy jade left out of our make-up. But while women have always painstakingly, and with suffering and prayer and fasting, striven to make themselves easy upon the eyes of the public, men have been content to remain as homely as God made them.

Women endure the agony of starvation in order to retain a girlish figure. They undergo the tortures of being scalped to have a permanent wave put in their hair. They spend far more thought on the lines and colors they can wear than they do on the salvation of their immortal souls. But men cheerfully let themselves get bay-windowed and with rolls of fat overflowing their collars. They make no effort to camouflage their bald pates, and if they are getting gray nothing on earth could keep them from wearing pepper-and-salt suits, nor could an act of the legislature prevent them from dressing in tans and browns if they have sandy complexions and hair.

Why men devote so little intelligent personal consideration to their appearance, nobody knows. Sometimes one thinks it is because they have so little vanity that they never look in a mirror. Sometimes one thinks it is because they are so superhumanly conceited that they consider themselves so ravishingly handsome just as they are that they don't need any adventitious aids to their beauty, and that any further adornment would be as superfluous as gilding the lily or painting the rose.

At any rate, whichever one of these hypotheses may have been true in the past, it is comforting to learn that men are discarding them and have taken to frequenting the beauty shops and are spending millions a year on having themselves furbished up. Certainly the world will be a more attractive place in which to live when every man counts his calories and covers his shining dome with a toupee and generally makes of himself a thing of beauty and a joy forever.

And, without doubt, when men take up improving their appearance in a serious way, it will do much toward preventing the disillusionment of wives and keep them from going on a stillhunt for affinities. For one of the main things that makes wives tired and causes them to wonder whatever made them marry the ones they did, is because they get weary at looking at a husband who looks like something that the cat brought in.

No other one piece of advice is rubbed more insistently into the consciousness of the bride than the fact that to keep her husband looking at her she must keep herself looking good. She is told over and over and over again that she must look tidy and neat and sweet and fresh and clean and all dolled up, and that no love will survive dirty kimonos and run-down-at-the-heel slippers and curl papers and cold cream.

It is all true enough. A frowsy woman, who looks as if she needed to be run through a steam laundry, is a repulsive object, and no one can blame the man who turns his eyes away from her to some little cutie who looks as if she had just stepped out of a bandbox. But it doesn't seem to have occurred to the man who is so critical of his wife's looks that she is equally sensitive to his and that she doesn't any more enjoy spending an evening looking at a fat man in a soiled collar and in his stocking feet and with a two-day stubble of beard on his face than he would in contemplating a fat woman in a dirty wrapper.

So when men begin to keep themselves fixed up for wifie and come home all shaven and shorn and powdered and perfumed, as they used to do in their courting days, why, it is going to usher in a glad new day in domesticity and stop a lot of divorce. For the reason that many a wife doesn't take the trouble to keep her husband is because he has got to look like such a moth-eaten, damaged article that she doesn't feel that he is worth houseroom any more.

And certainly it is going to brace men up and put fresh energy and more pep into them to devote more time and money and thought to fixing themselves up, for there is more moral support in knowing that we are looking our best than there is in the strongest moral principles. Every woman knows that when she comes out of a session at a beauty shop she feels 10 years younger and as if she had just inherited a million dollars.

And it will be the same way with men. DOROTHY DIX.

DEEP WATER

The Bulletin's Daily Short Story From Real Life.

By TOM F. BARRY

Cast of Characters in "Deep Water."

DICK WARD, 14 years old, falsifies his age and ships aboard a square rigger and goes to sea. He is put through all the hardships of life on a sailing ship, and he particularly hates

BO'S'N RANSOM, who seems to be the cruelest man in the world. When the vessel reaches Lisbon at last Dick follows the huge Ransom, vowing to get revenge.

Dick Ward shambled up the steps leading to the office of Sailor Joe, boarding master extraordinary, and canted his cap over his left eye in a manner he believed to be "seagoin'." He sought to expand his narrow chest—to give the impression of robust strength, as he met the wandering gaze of Sailor Joe—Joe himself.

"Well?" barked Joe punctuating his question with a stream of tobacco juice, erupting with unerring aim.

"Wanna go to sea!" Dick replied. "Got any ships?"

Sailor Joe stifled a laugh. "Ho-ho, this chicken wants to ship out. Ho-ho-ho!" But he answered: "Will a square-rigger do you?"

"Fine! Fine!" was Dick's answer, as he again sought to swell that concave chest.

"Are you old enough to ship?" Joe asked, his eyes twinkling.

"I'm 18!" Dick added four years to his age.

"Way enough, then! Stand by 'til the master comes, and we'll sign you on in the United States commissioner's office. And stick to that age! Tell the master you bin aboard Limey ships and are a runaway 'prentice, savy?"

Dick nodded an affirmative answer, his whole slight body tingling with excitement.

He was going to sea! Going down to the sea in ships! And no steamers mind you, but sailin' ships! Sailin' ships that he'd read about! God, it was good to be alive. When he'd come home, what a tale he'd have to tell! To tell Mom and Po. But they'd miss him now! They'd wonder where he'd gone. Why he'd run away. They'd be pretty gol dern sorry, y'betcha, for the way they treated him; makin' him be in early, and tellin' him to stay away from the corner boys because they were bad boys. And always diggin' into him about his poor marks in school. And now—now—he was standin' out for Rio; or maybe it wasn't Rio. He didn't know where the ship was bound for . . .

"Howdy, Cap'n." It was Sailor Joe greeting a master. Maybe the stranger was cap'n of his ship! Gee! But he didn't look like so much! Naw! No uniform or brass buttons. Just an old coat, and a slouch hat, and heavy shoulders. . . .

"C'mere, lad" Sailor Joe calling him.

"You bin on square-riggers, ain't-cha?" Sailor Joe asking him things.

"Yes, sir!"

"Outta England, wasn't it?"

"Yes, sir!"

"He Looks Young, But He's Sturdy and Strong."

"Know barkentines—old morphydite ships them—don'cha?"

"Yes, sir!"

"Aye, Cap'n." Joe speaking to the master. "I know he looks young but he's sturdy and strong, ain'cha, lad? And crews is tough to get Cap'n. Nobody wants to go deep water any more! Just a lot of damn steamboat mechanics these days, Cap'n. Old days has gone, Cap'n. Wooden men and iron ships these day's Cap'n.

"And your other five men is real smart sailors, Cap'n. Proper shellbacks, sir! Scouted all over the waterfront for 'em, Cap'n, and had to give 'em a bit of an advance to get 'em here. But I know you, Cap'n. I know you ain't like some of these tight skippers wot came in here! I know you treat a shippin' master right, so you do! An' Cap'n," lowering his voice, "it'd be a pleasure, sir, to have ye splice the main brace with Sailor Joe in my own private office, so it would, Cap'n. Ye will, Cap'n? Thankyee, Cap'n! Right this way, sir!"

"I got a belayin' pin with me, and you're bigger'n me, so I'll fight you with it!"

And then to Dick, pale, his soul in turmoil, a little heartsick at the big step before him—

"Stay fast here, lad. We'll be back pronto, so we will! Yes, cap'n, right this way!"

The somewhat battered tug sounded a number of complaining blasts on its querulous whistle, and the towline was cast off. Hand over hand it was hauled in by two men on the fo'castle head, while the other four sailors in the deck crew, Dick among them, sped frantically from pin rail to pin rail, hauling away on halyards, sheets, braces and all manner of running gear used in making sail.

Ransom, huge bo'sun who stood second mate's watch, led the way to each coil of major gear, and, as the men heaved, he roared out a sea chanty, while the blood quickened in th vein of the laboring sailors. The mate, Phillips, a fat, pudgy, little man, took up the chant, and presently all hands were shouting:

"While I was a-walkin' down Paradise Street,
"With a yo-ho, blow the man down!
"A fair young packet I chanct for to meet,
"O, give me some time to blow the man down!
"I gav her a hawser and took her in tow,
With a yo, ho, blow the man down!
And yard arm to yard arm away we did go;
O, give me some time to blow the man down!"

By this, even the Lascar cook was on deck, performing his time-honored duty of "Tending sheet by the galley door, hard by the forepin rail."

Fores'il set first! Topsi'l next! Togallant! No upper topsi'l on the Mary Crowell! Royal! Skys'il! Jib! Flying jib! Fore topmast stays'il Then the fore to'gallant The cry:

"Everything set on the fore, sir!"

On to the main! Mains'il! Main gaff tops'il! Main topmast stays'il! Spanker! Set the spanker, the breeze is freshening! Man the peak and throat halyards! Outhauls! Let go downhauls! Lifts! Sheets Vangs . . . "Spanker set, sir" Then two more commands:

"Man the port fore braces! Heave together, bullies! Heave and bust 'er lads! C'mon, buckos! All together! And again so"

"Send a man to the wheel, Mister!" the captain's voice. "Cap'n Skale! "Bucket o' Blood Skale!" The same man who had been in the office of Sailor Joe. But different, now!

"Watch the luff of the royal, lad and steer full and by. Make as little as ye can to loo'ard!"

The first dog watch, after the coming of the early glittering stars, high in the cold heavens of approaching night. Dick was in the watch below; in the starboard watch—three men, under the grim supervision of the big second mate, Ransom.

Ransom hadn't wanted him, but Miller, wise in the ways of sailing ships, and having first pick of the watches, had taken good care Dick would not be unloaded on to him. Ransom was sullen. The mate had taken the sailors, and left him, Ransom, a lot of blurry beach combers that didn't know the futtock shrouds from the martingale stay. Kee-rist, what a watch he had! Lookit 'em!

1. The lousy little Yank he'd cuffed twice already, when he whined about overhauling the buntlines for the fiftieth time. 2. A greasy little slob called Frenchy, who had spent some time on schooners. Bones of St. Anthony! whoever found a sailor on a schooner? 3. Svenson, a Swede, a damn good sailor, but one leg was shorter than the other, and he had trouble going aloft.

His Privilege Was To Clean Up Quarters

And this damned conglomeration of wharf rats, while Miller had drawn two squareheads and a bluenose from the banks who was a sailorizin' fool! B'lieve Mr. Ransom, the starboard watch would boast cracked heads. He'd start in the second dog watch, when he'd have the Yank go aloft and feed the gilded horse on the main truck with a wisp of rope yarn, masquerading as hay. And if he didn't do it! Ha-ha! Some fun, by Yazus! A little workout!

In the interval, Dick had unanimously been appointed "slops" of the fo'castle, and it was his privilege, being the youngest, to clean up the quarters, keep the tin dishes washed, and be last to dig into the cracker hash, graveyard stew, or a terrific concoction enjoying the name of "plum duff."

Now, the boy was in his bunk; his face turned to the bulkhead. He was seasick. Had a bruised eye and a cut lip His hands were burned from handling the running gear; and he was homesick; homesick, even though bound out for Lisbon! And Ransom had threatened to beat him when he came on deck again, or to kill him if he didn't! He began to whimper, and was savagely kicked by Svenson! Deep water! Great God! Deep water—on a square-rigger!

Ten days at sea! Dick asleep in his bunk in his watch below. Asleep, to the clank of the smoky lantern against the fo'castle bulkhead Asleep, to the roar of the foaming water as it eddied, curled, crashed, in green swirls of foam over the fo'castle head, threatening to carry away the anchor, lashed fast, after it had been "catted" on deck, centuries and centuries to Dick, before. Now, from outside, the sound of running feet—bare feet. The croy of the mate at the fo'castle door. "All hands on deck! Tumble out, you ———s!"

Groping blindly, staggering, from bunks. Hastily reeling, scrambling out on deck.

"Onto the shear pole! Up with you! Take it in! Take in the royal and skys'il! To'galant, too! Put double reefs in the lower heads'ils! Move!"

Ransom led the way He always led the way in times of stress and danger this bullying mate! God had distorted his soul at birth, but gave him infinite strength and courage. Up! Up! Up! The ratlins cut into bare feet; hands became numb from the bite of the cold; the icy breath of the no'-easter froze the saliva at the corners of your mouth, and finally, you'd reached the footrope, stretched taut below the yard.

Blood ran down your finger tips from under the cuticles. Your nails broke from the weight of the wet canvas. But you fought with that screaming sail until, finally, you'd slipped the bunt toggle home, hauled again, passed the sea gaskets, and scurried down to the royal yard where Frenchy awaited you.

He was out on the windward end of the yard. Another ripping, slashing tearing noise. The sheet carried away. It whirled upward. Struck Frenchy on the head. . He fell. You saw the dark outline of his body fall . . fall. . . . fall. . . turn, strike the hissing water. . . . Gone. . . . Gone. God help me, he's gone! It might of been me! Oh, Ma! Oh, Popper! Don't let me fall I'l be a good boy! Honest, I will! Poor Frenchy!

Thirtieth day at sea. More work since Frenchy was lost. And Ransom's inherent brutality was vented upon Dick.

Fortieth day at sea. No wind. The ship motionless. Gulf weed went faster in the current than the Mary Crowell! More brutality, but the "gimpy sailor" in Ransom's watch got some of it, too.

Forty-fifth day. Still no wind Speed, about two knots an hour. The pitch in the deck seams ran!

Sixty-second day at sea. Sixty-two days to sail from New York to Lisbon! No wonder sailing ships faded from the seas!

Wide-eyed, Dick observed a pilot-ship—a "Portygee." The Mary Crowell sailed up the harbor and was quickly berthed by odd but powerful little tugs. Then the crew went to work unloading cargo!

Loudly Declaring They'd Clear Out

Eight bells that evening—or, in landsman's time, 8 p.m. Two of the sailors in Mr. Miller's watch were loudly declaring they were going to clear out. No food! Bucko treatment! Slow ship! It was then that Dick, seeing Ransom rolling over the gangplank, furtively slipped a belaying pin from the monkey rail, and walked rapidly after him.

In shadows the boy overtook the bo'sun. "Mr. Ransom," he called. The mariner turned. "What's matter son?" he asked cherily.

"Mr. Ransom," Dick repeated, his voice trembling. "I want to talk to you. We're ashore now—man to man!" The mate grinned widely.

"You beat me, kicked me, almost killed me on the way here," the boy gulped. "I had to take it; you were my boss! Ashore, you're not! I've got a belayin' pin with me," he raced on, "and you're bigger'n me, so I'll fight you with it! Fight you, right here and now! Guard yourself!"

Ransom tripped the boy skilfully The pin fell from his hand.

He was helpless. Stooping over, the mate jerked him upright.

"Don't be a fool, son," he said. "Stick along with Billy Ransom, and he'll make a sailor outta you. A proper deep water sailor! No, I ain't gonna hit you. Why, kid, I could hug you for your guts! C'mon! Come with me! We'll splice the main brace together! A drink's what you need! Ever have any?"

Crying, the boy shook his head.

"Well, you will now. Let's go! And we'll sing as we go, Then, when you get home, you can tell your ma and your pa you're all-man—all sailor comprendi?"

The boy nodded happily. Together they strode into the darkness singing the opening words of "Blow the Man Down!" They got as far as:

"While I was a-walkin' down
Paradise Street,"

when Ransom interrupted. "No," he said, "sing this. Follow me:"

"O, whiskey is the life of man,
O, whiskey for my Johnny!"

The tune got fainter and fainter, as the murk of Lisbon's waterfront section hid the pair from view.

THE END.

Rid teeth of dangerous, glue-like FILM

Remove FILM daily. Ordinary brushing methods fail. Employ this special way

TOOTH DECAY is caused by germs. Pyorrhea usually results from germs and tartar.

Germs are imprisoned in a dingy, glue-like coating on the teeth called film. There they breed by millions in contact with the teeth and tissues in every crevice.

Film clings so stubbornly ordinary ways are not successful in removing it. Use the special formula called Pepsodent. You instantly notice the difference in the way it feels. Film vanishes. Teeth become gleaming white. Yet Pepsodent acts gently. No pumice, harmful grit or crude abrasive—but a soft, creamy paste that is prescribed for the softest teeth and tenderest gums.

Pioneers Of High Prairie Leaving

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

HIGH PRAIRIE, Nov. 7.—A farewell party was given by the old-timers of High Prairie last week in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Fewang, who have been resident in this town for the past twenty-seven years and are now going to reside at Vancouver. Over seventy guests were present, and a very enjoyable evening was spent. During the evening a purse of gold was presented to Mrs. Fewang as a small token of love and respect from her many friends here.

A masquerade dance was given in the Canadian Legion Hall last Friday, in aid of the local hospital. A sum of $110 was taken in and everyone present spent a delightful evening. The following ladies and gentlemen were awarded prizes for their costumes: Miss White as a "pirate." Mr. Siguard Fewang as "Romeo"; Mrs. Gordon Butler as a "Society Gentleman"; Mr. and Mrs. A. Girton as a "Honolulu Couple"; Miss Sadie Rogers as "Aunt Jemina."

A branch of the Royal Bank of Canada will open its doors here on November 8, with Mr. Lacey as manager and Mr. Robertson as teller.

The Ladies' Aid of the United church gave a short concert on Nov. 4 during which coffee and doughnuts were served. As a result they were able to swell their church funds by $21.

An airplane which has alighted here and remained over the week-end has caused great excitement among the junior population. The pilot is engaged on aerial survey work for the government.

Ukrainian Settlers Subject Of Lecture

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

VERMILION, Nov. 6.—A large crowd gathered at the United church on Monday evening to hear Mr. Pike give an illustrated lecture, his subject being "The Ukrainians in Alberta." Mr. Pike, who comes from Edmonton and has been very closely associated with the Ukrainians in his church work, gave a graphic and very sympathetic account of the gradual adoption of Canadian ways of living among these European settlers. The choir sang "Now the Day is Over," solo parts being taken by Mr. A. West and Mrs. Lorne McLean. Refreshments were served at the close of the lecture.

John Craig, George Wright and C. L. Whitby were business visitors in North Battleford last week-end, the trip being made by motor in Mr. Craig's car.

Fire Threatens Dodsland, Sask.

DODSLAND, Sask., Nov. 7.—When the water supply failed, fire early last night threatened destruction of the business section of Dodsland. Aided by firemen from Plenty, Druid, and Millerdale, the local brigade using chemical extinguishers, finally brought the blaze under control after a school and a residence had been destroyed. The property loss was estimated at $3,000. Fire Chief Elmer Campbell, of Dodsland, was seriously burned while refilling an extinguisher with air.

Immigrants Charge Money Confiscated By Russian Chiefs

Associated Press Cable

KIEL, Germany, Nov. 7.—As the vanguard of more than 10,000 descendants of German settlers in Russia, 150 years ago, who are about to migrate to Argentina and Canada, 323 immigrants arrived at Kiel yesterday destitute of means and charging that all their money had been confiscated by the Russian officials.

Local newspapers are urging the German officials to defray the travelling expenses for all the emigrants, especially since the Russian government has demanded that the German government issue the requisite visas for emigrants within 48 hours.

The German government is expected to comply in order to expedite the emigrants' departure from Hamburg for Canada and South America.

Unemployed Clash With Irish Police

Associated Press

DUBLIN, Ireland, Nov. 7.—A near riot took place outside of Leinster House yesterday soon after the assembly of the Dail Eireann, when a crowd of unemployed clashed with the police. Constables charged with their batons and dispersed the demonstrators.

Immediately afterwards there was a scene in the Dail when a man in the gallery interrupted the proceedings and threw red leaflets into the chamber, shouting: "I demand that the Dail Eireann adjourn until the unemployed are heard."

Says Bond Market To Improve Soon

Possibility of an improvement of the bond market in the near future was mentioned by John Hope, Toronto, executive of the Dominion Securities Corporation, during a conference with Commissioner David Mitchell Wednesday morning. Mr. Hope is paying a periodical visit to this city.

The condition of the bond market will vitally affect the city with the probability of a large debenture issue next year. The market has been in a more or less lethargic state lately but it was pointed out that investors appeared to be turning their attentions more now to conservative safe investments. This condition is now more apparent since the recent collapse of the stock market, the commissioner said.

Vermilion Teacher Attends Convention

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

VERMILION, Nov. 7.—Mr. Markle, principal of the high school, has left for Edmonton to attend the teachers' convention.

Miss Haines, of the high school staff, is spending the Thanksgiving holiday in Edmonton, taking in the convention while there.

The high school is being placed at the disposal of the teachers during the two day convention here, and there will be no classes consequently on Thursday and Friday of this week.

Mrs. McKinnon and Mrs. Cash motored to Edmonton and will spend the week-end in the city.

Gerald Stephens, of the Royal Bank, is seriously ill with pneumonia, in Edmonton, where he was spending his holidays. Mrs. Stephens left on Monday to be with him until his recovery.

General Store Is Razed By Fire At McLennan Thursday

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

McLENNAN, Alta., Nov. 7.—Fire which broke out at 2 a.m. Thursday, completely destroyed the general store of E. O. Reitze and Son and also the residence of Mr. Reitze. The damage to store and house is estimated to be in the neighborhood of $11,000. The property is partly covered by insurance. An overheated stove is presumed to have been the cause of the blaze.

5,000 Grain Cars Await Unloading

By Canadian Press

WINNIPEG, Nov. 7.—More than 5,000 grain cars were lined up waiting to pour their contents into Lakehead elevators Wednesday—and the bins are piled with almost 76,000,0 bushels of grain. The elevators carry a storage that leaves only a 10,000,000 bushel margin required for convenient handling and shipments out by boat during the past two days have been but 1,500,000 bushels. Marketings reported yesterday showed a substantial rise to 1,093,000 bushels and loadings were correspondingly high at 709 cars. Meanwhile prairie storage aggregated 85,675,000 bushels as compared to 85,884,000 bushels the preceding day, and to an aggregate capacity of 179,000,000 bushels.

73 ARRESTED

450 TEACHERS REGISTER FOR ANNUAL MEET

Come From City and Country for Convention Here

Registration at the Edmonton Teachers' Association annual general meeting and the convention of the teachers of the Onoway, Westlock, St. Paul and the Edmonton rural inspectorates reached the high peak of 450 for the former and 400 for the latter when the meetings opened on Thursday morning, with the possibility that a record for attendance will be set for both conventions this year. The meetings are taking place at the Queen's avenue and Victoria High Schools.

The principal speaker at the Edmonton teachers' convention on Thursday morning was Dr. R. C. Wallace of the Alberta University who spoke on the problem of education in a western Canadian city, while Miss K. Teskey gave a lecture on "some impressions of southern Russia, founded on a recent trip made to that country by the speaker.

Bury Speaks

Mayor Bury was the speaker at the opening session of the rural inspectorates meeting, welcoming the delegates on behalf of the city. A number of technical papers were read during the opening sessions, and standing committees for the convention appointed.

The election of officers for the ensuing year will take place during the evening session, while on Friday lectures on subjects pertaining to the teaching profession will be delivered.

The election of officers for the Edmonton Association will take place on Friday afternoon, the morning session being taken up with the introduction of a number of fraternal delegates to the convention.

Meeting also in the Queens avenue school are the Edmonton rural district High School teachers who, this morning, elected officers as follows:

Director, E. L. Fuller, B.A.; chairman, R. V. McCullough, A.B., Wetaskiwin; secretary-treasurer, W. K. Gish, M.A., Camrose; press representative, J. W. E. Markle, Vermilion.

The convention was addressed this morning by Elmer Roper of the Edmonton School Board on "What the Public expects of the High School."

PREMIER NOT TO QUIT POST

Hon. J. E. Brownlee Denies That He Is Sought by Wheat Pool

Absolute and unqualified denial was given on Thursday by Premier J. E. Brownlee to stories emanating from Winnipeg to the effect that he was a likely candidate for a high office in the Canadian Wheat Pool.

"As far as I am concerned there has been no discussion on the matter and I have heard nothing whatever about it, but I am confident the organization concerned can take care of the appointment," was the Premier's disposition of the matter.

The stories of his latest appointments are variants of a hardy perennial to the effect that he would relinquish his present post as Premier to accept the solicitorship of the Wheat Pool, a post for which it is universally conceded he is eminently fitted on account of his association with the pool movements both politically and as a solicitor.

With Premier Brownlee's position considered stronger than ever, the likelihood of his leaving the provincial government leadership is remote indeed.

In any case, his own statement has put an end to the matter.

Three claims for divorce were filed in the Supreme court on Thursday. In the first Maria Michayliuk filed suit against her husband, Demytro Michayliuk, and at the same time asked for the custody of their infant child. Action was filed by Dan Booy against his wife, May Booy, and Anton Pawlik filed suit against his wife, Julia. In the last mentioned case the defendant is a resident of Poland, not having accompanied her husband when he came to this country.

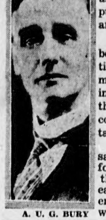
Inspection Of Site At 102a Avenue And 100 Street Is Made

Hon. O. L. McPherson, J. D. Robertson, Mayor Bury and A. W. Haddow Do Not Anticipate Any Difficulty in Securing Necessary Property

Edmonton's cenotaph probably will be located at the intersection og 100 st. and 102A ave., it was evident Thursday following an inspection of the site by the Hon. O. L. McPherson, minister of public works, and J. D. Robertson, deputy minister of public works, with Mayor A. U. G. Bury and Engineer A. W. Haddow.



A. U. G. BURY

Following a recent suggestion placed before the cenotaph committee that a location at 100 st. and 102A ave. would be a much preferable alternative to a position in front of the Memorial Hall or opposite the Canadian National Railway station, the committee requested the mayor to ascertain the practicability of this scheme.

It was decided that it would be necessary to secure a portion of each corner lot for an elliptical circus and it proved that the city owned the southeast and northeast corner lots while the provincial government owned the southwest and northwest corner lots.

After an inspection of the site Hon. Mr. McPherson declared that he did not anticipate any difficulty in having the government grant the city the necessary land to construct a circus.

Engineer A. W. Haddow has already staked off the land required and directly sanction of the provincial government has been obtained, further plans will be made to bring about the fruition of the scheme to provide a memorial to Edmonton's heroic soldier dead.

Mayor Bury said he would make a detailed report to the city council at its next meeting.

PROPOSE TO SPREAD OUT COAL ORDERS

Would Help to Relieve Unemployment in Crow's Nest

Placing of railway orders for coal in the Crow's Nest Pass with a view to spreading them over a greater period in order to give miners a more protracted period of employment was the subject of an informal discussion held on Thursday between Premier J. E. Brownlee and Grant Hall, senior vice-president, and D. C. Coleman, vice-president in charge of western lines Canadian Pacific railway, at the premier's office at the legislative buildings.

The discussion arose during a courtesy call the two railway officials made in company with A. H. Halkett, C. P. R. general superintendent for Alberta.

The proposal to spread out the coal orders in order to flatten out the unemployment peak was advanced by Premier Brownlee, and Mr. Hall agreed that the C. P. R. at least would be prepared to give consideration to any representations the government would wish to make.

It was then suggested that the subject be further discussed at a conference to be called at Winnipeg within the next month.

Arising out of this representation the premier announced that during the visit to this city last week of Premier J. T. M. Anderson, of Saskatchewan, that the general subject of unemployment had been discussed and that a conference with the Dominion might be held with the two provinces acting in unison.

Alberta already has had one conference with the Dominion on this question during the present year.

Premier Brownlee was to meet Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King at noon on Thursday, when he planned to informally discuss this matter briefly.

The regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club at the Macdonald hotel on Monday, November 11, will not be held on account of the Armistice Day celebrations.

LABOR PARTY TO MEET HERE

President George Latham To Start Three-day Session

With upwards of 100 delegates from various labor bodies in Alberta in attendance, a three-day convention of the Alberta section of the Canadian Labor Party will open in Edmonton on Saturday at 10 a.m., with President George Latham in the chair and Ald. C. L. Gibbs, M.L.A., acting as secretary.

Plans have been made by local members of the Canadian Labor Party for the entertainment of the delegates while in Edmonton, and on Saturday evening a banquet will be tendered the visitors at the Royal George hotel. The banquet will be presided over by D. K. Knott, well known local labor leader, and president of the Edmonton section of the C.L.P.

Fraternal delegates of the United Farmers of Alberta and the Alberta Teachers' Alliance will attend the convention, and on Sunday night a mass meeting is scheduled for the Rialto theatre at which William Irvine, Labor M.P. for Wetaskiwin, will be the chief speaker. W. E. Turner will also address the meeting on the Co-operative Milk Plan in Calgary, and other local and provincial labor leaders will be heard.

The convention will carry its deliberations through Saturday, Sunday and Monday, adjourning Monday evening.

Left parked on 100 street, a new Hupmobile car, stolen from H. J. Grieve, Calgary, was recovered by the city police.

Irish Meets Greek And Trouble Clouds Loom Up

Bowl of Clam Chowder Charged by Mike With Masquerading as Oyster—Patrol Wagon Called

When Greek meets Greek, they open a restaurant. When Greek meets Irish, they open hostilities.

That's how it was on Jasper ave. on Wednesday night, when Mike McTigue, Irish and pleasantly full of tanglefoot, swung through the glass door of a downtown beanery.

The waiter shoved a bill of fare in front of him. Mike picked it up, upside-down, squinted through one half-closed eye, stabbed a stubby forefinger at the printed list, and said solemnly "Bring me a bowl of this, me bold bucko."

The waiter squinted. "Si, si, senor," he said, and sprinted for the kitchen. Mike waited. Presently a big steaming bowl of clam chowder was put before him. Mike licked his lips. "It's nectar of the gods from high Olympus" he said, "An' begorra they drink good drinks on high Olympus."

Came the denouement. Mike took one sip, glared around in outraged fury, and gasped.

"An' yez call these oysters, ye dirty heathen. 'Tis well for ye it isn't the Fifth av Novimber or I'd stage a Guy Fawkes cillybration an' blow up the joint," he said.

"But you ordered clam chowder," insisted the waiter.

"Begorra, ye dare to doubt the word of a discindint of Brian Borrhu. I'll fight you for it" insisted Mike. The waiter opened up diplomatic negotiations. The cashier got excited and telephoned the police station.

Outside the crowd gathered. Clang, clang, clang, came the patrol wagon, and two of Chief Shute's finest entered the picture. For fifteen minutes there was an argument, and then the policemen left, closely followed by Mike. Both bluecoats climbed into the hurry-up wagon. Mike tried to follow.

"Get out of here," said the patrolman. "We don't want you."

"I insist on goin' to the police station. I want me ights," said Mike, with all the fervor of an outraged Son of Erin.

"But we don't want you. Run home to bed, now, like a good boy. 'Tis all over," said the bluecoat.

"But it's justice I want," insisted Mike, trying to climb into the patrol wagon.

"Away now, or you'll get it," warned the policeman, and swung open the door invitingly.

"Begorra, I might at that," agreed Mike. "Good night to you," and he faded into the darkness.

The crowd grinned and went on.

"I've heard of 'em trying to talk their way out of a pinch, but it's the first time in my life I've heard anyone try to talk their way into one," said Tom Rookes. "The world's changed since I was a lad."

Inside the phonograph blared "Who Threw the Overalls in Mrs. Murphy's Chowder?"

Nobody answered. It was all quiet on the Jasper front.

EDMONTON IS CELEBRATING SEMI-JUBILEE

City 25 Years Old Today—Was Incorporated November 7, 1904

Today marks the celebration of the semi-Jubilee of the founding of the City of Edmonton. Twenty-five years ago today, on November 7, 1904, Edmonton, N.W.T., a wild prairie town with a boasted population of 7,500 was granted a city charter by the Dominion government.

As the flag fluttered from the masthead at the Civic Block Thursday, old timers were recalling the variety of scenes and eperiences the city has witnessed since that memorable occasion. Since that day of incorporation, the population of the city, with the addition of Strathcona on amalgamation in 1921, has increased 1,000 per cent.

William Short was mayor of the town of Edmonton when the charter was received and served the remainder of the year of 1904 as mayor of the city. K. W. McKenzie, who died a few weeks ago, was in reality the first mayor of the city of Edmonton.

First Council

The first city council was composed of Aldermen C. May, W. A. Griesbach, K. A. McLeod, W. H. Clark, D. R. Fraser, J. R. Boyle, T. Bellamy and J. H. Picard, most of whom have passed into the Great Beyond J. H. Morris was president of the Board of Trade and F. F. Tims was secretary.

Interesting accounts of the first council meetings are contained in the files of the Edmonton Bulletin and judging from the length of the narratives, much business occupied the attention of the city fathers even in those early days. One story told of the increasing of the proposed salary for the mayor from $800 to $1,000 a year.

No street cars were in operation at the time of the city's incorporation, the radial system being founded in 1908 with two cars. This system has now grown to comprise more than 50 passenger street cars.

However, the phone system had been installed in 1904 and there were 450 subscribers. This number has now grown to 16,281.

PRESENTATION TO OLD-TIMER

Vice-President of Organization Leaving for San Diego, Calif.

Kenneth A. McLeod, vice-president of the Northern Alberta Pioneers and Old Timers' Association, was the recipient of a handsome solid gold locket inscribed with the monogram "K. A. McL." and a replica of the Old Timers' cabin situate at the exhibition grounds, at a meeting of the organization held on Wednesday evening at the office of the secretary, James E. Reilly, Dominion bank building.

The occasion was the departure of Mr. McLeod for San Diego, Cal., whither he is going to visit his father, former Edmontonian, who is now 95 years old.

James Sutherland, president of the Old Timers' organization, made the presentation.

W. J. Carter, J. C. F. Bown, J. A. McCool, Donald Harrold and John Gainer all spoke enthusiastically of Mr. McLeod's contributions to the welfare of the organization.

A tribute along similar lines from the feminine section was paid by Mrs. W. R. Howey.

Date Application To Quash City's Power Agreement

Hearing of the application of Edwin Poole, fireman at the postoffice, for an order to restrain the city from executing an agreement with the Calgary Power Company for the sale and purchase of bulk power, will be heard in the court chambers November 18 at 10 a.m., it was announced Wednesday following the receipt by the city of a new notice of the application from G. B. O'Connor, K.C., solicitor for Poole. S. B. Woods, K.S., and J. C. F. Bown, K.C. will represent the city.

Suffering from serious injuries as a result of a traffic crash on the Calgary trail, near Leduc, on Tuesday night, Mrs. M. Kusanski and Mrs. Lena Kusanski, sisters-in-law, both of Calmar, are lying in the Misericordia hospital.

What Happened In Police Court

Bootlegged beer comes high, to both drinker and peddler, according to a statement made by Detective Munro in the city police court to Magistrate Primrose on Thursday, when Mrs. Helen Marovichuk, 9640 102A avenue, pleaded guilty to a charge of the illegal sale of liquor.

Detective Munro saw gentlemen in the Marovichuk kitchen buy the Marovichuk beer at 50 cents per bottle, on the night of October 26, as a result of which Mrs. Marovichuk paid a fine of $300, with the option of three months in jail.

Premier Brownlee Invited To Speak To Fair Officers

Premier J. E. Brownlee has been invited by H. W. Waters, general manager of the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, to address the exhibition's directors at the 1930 meeting.

In extending his invitation Mr. Waters stated that the purpose of the directors was to make the exhibition more and more all-Canadian and with this in view it was proposed in 1930 to set aside a day for each province.

He hoped the Premier would be able to attend on "Alberta Day" and that this porvince would continue to show as it had in the past.

The Premier said it was too early yet to state whether he would journey east and speak. The province would continue its exhibitions as it had shown for the last several years. This exhibit would be increased in siz if the natural resources were returned.

THREE AUTOS FOR OFFICERS OF ROAD RACE

Premier Motors to Supply Studebaker and Durant Cars on Monday

Official automobiles for the Edmonton Bulletin's second annual Thanksgiving Day 10-mile road race, which will be run next Monday, starting at 10:30 o'clock, will be provided by the Premier Motors Limited, local Studebaker and Durant dealers, so officers in charge are assured of being able to follow the runners over the course with ease and comfort.

The Premier Motors have placed at the disposal of the Bulletin a seven-passenger, eight-cylinder Studebaker President sedan, a six-cylinder Studebaker Commander brougham, and a Durant "70" four-speed De Luxe sedan.

The President sedan will be occupied by Dr. W. A. Wilson, medical officer, who will follow the runners around the course, pick up those who are forced to drop out and provide any necessary medical treatment.

The Commander and Durant sedans will carry the starter, course marshal, course inspectors, judges and timers and will also be used to help keep the route clear of automobiles and bicycles.

All three cars will bear the official banners of the Bulletin race, the medical car being marked with a red cross. All motorists, cyclists and spectators are asked to help out the officials by not blocking the streets over which the runners will travel in their long grind to the finish line in front of the Bulletin office.

The drivers for the official cars will be supplied by the Premier Motors.

C.P.R. CHIEF VISITS CITY

Grant Hall Making Fall Inspection Trip of Western Lines

"There is no special significance in my visit to Edmonton: I am making my usual fall inspection of western lines," stated Grant Hall, senior vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who arrived in Edmonton on Wednesday evening. Mr. Hall and party left for Calgary at noon.

During his stop-over here Mr. Hall had a long conference with John Callaghan, general manager of the Northern Alberta Railways.

Mr. Hall regretted that he was not able to make the trip over the northern lines at this time, but expressed satisfaction with the proposed branch line extensions to be built next year.

While here Mr. Hall called at the parliament buildings and had a conference with Premier Brownlee.

Accompanying Mr. Hall is D. C. Coleman, vice-president of western lines; T. C. McNabb, engineer in charge of construction; A. Halkett, general superintendent for Alberta; George J. Fox, superintendent for the Edmonton division.

George L. Bourne, prominent New York financier; F. R. Russell, chairman Vancouver Harbor Commission; M. Black, Winnipeg, and George W. Allan, K.C., of Winnipeg, are accompanying the Canadian Pacific chief as guests.

After an inspection of the Calgary division Mr. Hall will proceed to the Pacific coast.

S. D. JOHNSTON PRESIDENT OF JUNIOR C.C.

D. M. Ramsay and C. McLeod Chosen Vice-Presidents at Meeting

S. D. Johnston was elected president of the young men's section of the Chamber of Commerce at the first annual meeting, held Wednesday night at the MacDonald hotel, with D. M. Ramsay and C. McLeod as vice-presidents.

Giving a brief speech during the counting of the council ballot, Howard Stutchbury, Trade Commissioner for the Province of Alberta, urged them to throw their force into getting everyone out to vote at the civic elections this year, not worrying as to the party of the voter, but only ensuring that he voted, continuing with a description of the manner in which the Toronto Junior Chamber of Commerce had increased the civic voting percentage.

It was up to this newly formed body to help his department also, he continued. By their activities they could do a great deal to stimulate the demand for "Produced in Alberta" goods, while the natural resources of the province could not be too greatly boosted. Instancing the tar sand deposits at McMurray, which etxended for over 15,000 square miles, he said they contained more than 600 times the present annual world production of oil. Tests, continued Mr. Stutchbury, had recently been made with a separating machine, which was highly successful, extracting about 33 gallons of oil to the ton, of which 15 gallons was high grade anti-knock gasoline, and six gallons excellent lubricating oil.

CITY NURSES GET AUTONOMY

Measure of Self Government Accorded by Authorities

Self government among the student nurses is being established this week at the Royal Alexandra Hospital, according to the superintendent of nurses, Miss Munro. With the completion of the new arrangements student nurses will take over the regulation of life in the Nurses' Home and the social activities. It is felt by those in charge that the added responsibility will be beneficial to the nurses in training, as well as adding interest to their activities.

This system of student government has been in practice for several years in eastern hospitals where it has proven very satisfactory. The Royal Alexandra is the first Edmonton hospital to establish it.

Miss E. O. Priem, a member of the senior class, has been elected president of the new student organization. The vice president will also be a member of the graduating class, the other years will have representation on the executive. At a meeting to be held at the end of the week the constitution will be drawn up.

Horses Stampede When Hit By Auto; Driver Is Injured

His horses taking fright when one of them was struck by a passing motorist at the corner of 122 street and Jasper avenue at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, Louis Fisher, of Golden Spike, lies in the General hospital with his right forearm broken and minor injuries.

Fisher told the police that he was driving west with a team and democrat and swung to pass another team when a passing auto struck one of his horses on the head. Fisher was thrown out of the rig. The motorist is not yet known.

The team is being cared for at the city police station until Fisher's relatives can take the horses back to the farm.

Hit By Auto, City Man Badly Injured

Crashed into by a car driven by Alex Girvan, caretaker of the rifle range here, Matthew Williamson, elevator man in the Williamson block, Jasper ave., had his left leg broken at the ankle and is now in the General hospital. The accident occurred at eight a.m. on Wednesday, and the injured man was immediately rushed to hospital in a car by Dr. Chatham.

According to Girvan's story to the police, he was driving west on Jasper ave. and saw Williamson ahead of him. He blew his horn and shouted but Williamson did not appear to hear him. The accident occurred on Jasper ave., close to the Williamson block.

Police tests showed the brakes of the car to respond well at [illegible] miles an hour, but the injured man claimed the car was going at 40 miles an hour when it hit him while he was on his way to work.

Drunk In Charge Of Car, Arrested

Alleged to have been intoxicated when he crashed into a parked car belonging to Wm. Clyde, 9183 Jasper avenue, at 5 p.m. on Wednesday, Julius Ostertag, Beverly, was arrested by city police and faces a charge of intoxicated while in control of an auto.

Both cars were badly damaged by the crash. Clyde's car was parked in front of his residence at the time and was struck from the rear. It was turned right out into the street, Ostertag's car crashed into the curb.

War songs, war experiences and a general Armistice Day program will be the chief features of the regular meeting of the Optimist club of this city on Thursday at the Macdonald hotel, together with a hot drive for Wolf Cub badge examiners by Bill Bayley, chairman of the Boys' Work [illegible] other 20 assistants for this work.

St. Andrew's Society Starts Winter With Meeting At Corona

The Corona hotel on Monday evening housed an enthusiastic audience of representative Edmonton Scots on the occasion of the first monthly meeting of the season of the St. Andrew's Society. The executive had extended an invitation to the members' wives and friends, and nobly they responded to the invitation.

A musical evening was shown on the syllabus for the evening, and Sandy McPherson, as convener of the entertainment committee, worthily upheld his reputation in providing for the enthusiastic audience a program of high-class merit sustained by the following equally well known artists: Miss McIntosh, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Clark, Master D Thomas, light comedian, Clem Schroeter (with his one-stringed violin) Hamish Gillespie, and the inimitable Sandy himself.

WILL DISCUSS MANY CHANGES MOTHERS' ACT

Legislature Will Deal With Allowances at Next Session

Proposed changes to the mothers' allowance act will be discussed by the provincial legislature at its next session, it was announced Thursday, following a conference Wednesday afternoon between Mayor A. U. G. Bury, Commissioner David Mitchell, Hon. J. F. Lymburn, K.C., attorney-general; George B. Henwood, K.C., deputy attorney-general, and Thomas Magee, superintendent of the city relief department.

Mayor Bury suggested an amendment to the act that would allow the liability of a municipality for 50 per cent of the allowance to be determined at the time the mother, entitled to an allowance, became eligible, not when she made application for an allowance. It was also suggested that in cases where a mother has no residence qualifications, but is otherwise entitled to an allowance, this allowance be given and the entire cost be borne by the provincial government. The mayor believed that the latter suggestion could be put into effect without an amendment to the existing act, pointing out that he believed it never was the intention of the government to deprive a mother of an allowance even if she did not have the necessary residence qualifications.

Hon. Mr. Lymburn promised to give the matter careful consideration and bring it before the House at the next session.

Commenting on the question Thursday, Mayor Bury declared a satisfactory solution to the problem was vitally important to cities in the province, as there was a tendency at present to saddle the cities with costs of the allowances which rightfully belonged to some rural district.

Nth. Edmonton Man Faces Grave Charge

Charged with criminal assault upon a married woman not his wife, Fraser Bentley was arraigned in the criminal court on Thursday before Mr. Justice Walsh and jury.

A plea of not guilty was entered and election was made for trial by jury.

The jury enpanelled is as follows: Charles Broughton, W. K. Porter, Oscar Robbins, W. McIntyre, Harry Bardin and John Collins.

The alleged offence occurred on August 31 last.

The case is continuing.

Edward B. Cogswell, K.C., is conducting the prosecution, and W. R. Howson is defending.

D. E. Cameron, librarian of the University of Alberta, was the speaker at the regular weekly lunch of the Rotary Club at the Macdonald hotel Thursday, November 7. With Adam Esch in the chair, a larger number of Rotarians and guests assembled than usual.

A. E. ACKLAND WILL SUCCEED SUPT. RITCHIE

Regina Man Appointed to Take Charge R.C.M.P. Division Here

Inspector A. E. Ackland, appointed to succeed Superintendent James Ritchie as head of the famous "G" division, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, is expected to arrive in this city from Regina, where he has been posted, to assume his new duities within the next few days.

The formal order-in-council authorizing the retirement on pension after 38 years continuous service in the R. N. W. M. P. and later in the R. C. M. P., of Supt. Ritchie was passed at Ottawa on Wednesday, although the retirement was announced a month ago.

Supt. Ritchie, who leaves behind him in the old force one of the most enviable records both in length and value of service, will continue to reside in this city. He joined the force as a young man, serving first as a constable, during which time he was stationed at points in every section of the territory served by the force.

By dint of diligent application to duty and by displaying initiative and resource on all occasions, he rose to command "G" division, that which has its headquarters in this city and which administers the far north territory tributary to the Mackenzie river and delta.

Presented With Tray

As a token of high appreciation and regard, all ranks of headquarters staff, through Inspector Wood presented Supt. Ritchie with a handsome sterling silver tray suitably inscribed with the high lights of his career.

Air Matters At Public Meeting

Matters of vital interest to the tax payers and parents of the city will be aired at a public meeting to be held at the Westmount Community Hall, 10978 135 street, at 8 p.m., on Friday, November 8, it was stated today by Lloyd Wood, well-known Edmonton business man, who takes a keen interest in Community League and other public matters.

A review of the entire high school situation in Edmonton will be fearlessly gone into at this meeting, it was stated by Mr. Wood.

Members of the Edmonton Public School Board who are featured for speakers at the meeting are: A. T. Cushing, chairman of the Edmonton Public School Board; Elmer Roper, editor of the Labor News and member of the board, and G. A. McKee, board superintendent.

Sixty-six muskrat pelts were seized by an A.P.P. patrol which searched the homes of John Christenson and Gus Watson, near Stettler recently. The men had shot them in a lake near Leo, while ostensibly hunting ducks. They were each fined $10 and costs when they appeared before W. B. Gray, Stettler police magistrate.

MILITARY ORDERS

Garrison Sgts. Mess, Prince of Wales Armouries. The annual general meeting will be held on Friday, November 8, 1929, at 8 p.m. Election of officers, yearly report, etc. A full attendance is requested.

JAMES C. BECKETT, C.S.M.

SGT. E. J. DONNELLY.

Santa's Coming!

SPECIAL arrangements have been made for Santa to appear in person at this store in the near future. The date of his arrival depends upon the progress he can make from the North. Some of the Eskimos said that he expected one of the big planes to bring him out with his toys, but as skiis big enough to fit it could not be made in time, his plans had to be changed.

Again, his prancing reindeers were groomed for the Southern journey. They seemed to sense the joy that they were going to bring to thousands of good little girls and boys throughout the world. Perhaps Dancer and Prancer haven't forgotten the sweet things which were given them on their previous visits at Christmas time.

Just as Santa sped by the nearest wireless station, he tossed this short message to the operator, who flashed it to us:

En Route from the North Pole,
November 7, 1929

The T. EATON CO., LTD.,
Edmonton, Canada.

Please have everything in readiness for my visit to your store. Tell all the kiddies that I'm coming.

Furniture Moved Into Street, She Sleeps On Floor

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Mrs. Tillie Hart, who for four months has withstood the siege of a wrecking crew seeking to make way for a 25-million-dollar apartment house, has retired into a boarding house and her old home was being torn down Saturday.

Mrs. Hart stoutly refused to move before Friday, despite a dispossess order granted by a court to her former landlords because she owed $600 back rent. She insisted on remaining until her lease was out next year.

While she dodged a deputy sheriff from room to room of the old house Thursday, a group of workers, acting under directions of the sheriff's office, put the eviction order into effect, and moved her furniture onto the street. As the last piece was set down on the sidewalk and the wreckers clambered to the roof, another deputy arrived with a stay allowing her until Friday to move. She spent Thursday night on a pile of newspapers in the vacant rooms.

Friday, Mrs. Hart succumbed to the advance of progress, and a few hours before the stay expired, installed herself in a boarding house.

What Canadian city, town, river, bay, lake or island does this picture represent? No more answers will be published, and no correspondence regarding contest entered into.

—RULES—

Everyone excepting employees of The Edmonton Bulletin may take part. As many from one family as you like.

Clip the picture and coupon underneath it every day and write the answer on blank line Save all your clippings till the end of the contest, then send them in to the "Pictorial Canada" Puzzle Contest Editor of The Edmonton Bulletin in one batch, in a sealed envelope containing clearly written your name and address.

If any contestant is doubtful of the correct answer to any puzzle, he may send in several sets of answers, but each set must be complete, and in its own envelope containing all fifty clippings.

If two or more persons are tied for any prize, their prizes will be lumped and divided between them. The judges' decision will be final.

The first puzzle appeared Tuesday, October 29, and the Edmonton Bulletin will publish cartoons daily, continuing till Saturday, December 14. All envelopes containing answers must be in the hands of the contest editor not later than Saturday, December 21, so that out of town contestants may have the same opportunities of winning the big prize as those living in town. Winners will be announced and the prize distributed a day or two before Christmas.

This will be The Edmonton Bulletin's Christmas present to those of its readers who are bright enough to rank as winners.

Boys Do Housework To Earn Their Way Through Colleges

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—Records of the Washington university employment bureau show that it is men students instead of the women students who are willing to do housework to help pay their way through college.

Not one girl has registered for housework or has accepted any of the numerous calls for such employment, but a dozen or more men are working as house servants. Others are tending furnaces, washing windows, acting as companions for young boys, waiting on tables and doing other duties as servants.

There are 6,582,000 miles of highway in the world.

Breezy hilltop gardens yield this fragrant tea.

"MISS PAT"

By ELENORE MEHERIN

CHAPTER 14.

For a long time that Saturday afternoon shone in Pat's memory. It glowed, happy and at peace like a picture she had once seen of trees in sunlight.

They drove down through the hills to the Spring Valley lakes in Woodside Here the eucalpti made a little grove and the ground rose gently from the smooth waters.

"You look pretty today, Pat—prettier than usual. The green is the color of your eyes. Are these some of your college togs you're wearing?"

"Yes."

"You're getting all dolled up. You really plan to go high-stepping down there, winning hearts along with degrees, don't you?"

Cut Path Through Hearts of Men

"How I'd love that! I'd like to have about 3 cicr-6w cut a red path through the hearts of men. I'd like to have about 2000 proposals and refuse them all."

"Pat, do you really mean that you'd like to see some poor devil wanting you and loving you and that you'd enjoy leading him along just to step on him?"

She shrugged and grinned. "Of course I wouldn't want tiresome people hanging the crepe for the small matter of a busted heart. It would be most annoying to have 2000 melancholy swains giving me black looks."

"People in Love Get Tragic About It"

"You'd want them to take the matter debonairly? But people in love have an unfortunate habit of getting tragic about it. They single out one particular person, fix their thoughts upon him and imagine that no one else in the whole wide earth will do.

"Of course they're absurd. If they had been born in another country or in another generation, they would have found other adored mates. There are probably at least 2000 men, Pat, who would equally qualify for your love. But some day you'll single out just one and imagine that no one else will do.

"And then it won't matter whether all the other men in the world sigh for you. You'll want him—him only."

" Ah, yes," said Pat. "I know it!"

"How do you know it, Pat?"

She was flushed up to her very eyes but she answered quickly: "A woman knows those things by instinct."

"And this is the way you want to love, Pat?" Just one being set apart from all others?"

"Yes—like that."

"And you won't care then for two or twenty thousand proposals?"

He's Only One in All the World

She gazed wistfully into the water. She thought sadly: He doesn't know that he is the only ONE—that in all the world there can never be another one. She was conscious of his brown profile with its clean-hewn chin, of his twinkling hazel eyes.

He was saying lazily: "What will you do with the fellow when you find him? Pat, do you mean to marry him and settle down and be a nice, homey little wife?"

She laughed: "With half a dozen kids and papa's slippers at the fire or on the front porch according to the weather and the socks darned. Yes—that's just exactly what I mean to do."

"You're positively against all companionate marriage I see."

"Well I shan't mind earing my living beforehand and when I come to the second blooming, as W. L. George calls it, I'll be glad to have a career. But that will be after the important things are done."

"Which important things?"

"Loving my husband and raising my kids."

"The Votes For Women League would certainly adore you, Miss Pat."

What Is So Grand About Earning Money?

"Oh, they're all finding it out for themselves. They're even admitting that they've landed on the wrong foot. You see, Mr. Man, I'm the feminist of tomorrow. I'm the lady that KNOWS. Besides what is so grand about earning money? Why should that be considered a big and important thing to do? How is it half as thrilling as turning out a worth-while person? Such as you or such as I.

"I'm interested in biology. I'm going to major in this. And then I'll use my home for a human laboratory and I'll turn out beautiful beings. I'll make a fine job of my children. Like I have of Dickie."

"Your mother'd love that."

"Well—whether she admits it or not, I've been a salutary influence. And he WORSHIPS me."

"So I've observed. Pat, you like being worshiped?"

She drew a long sigh an laughed into his eyes. He took her hands and pulled her to her feet. He held her a moment and looked down at her: "Pat," said he, "have you by any chance met this ONE BEING? Think you have?"

She Could Not Take Her Eyes From His

She stood with her lips a little parted and color rising to her hair. But she could not take her eyes from out of his.

He drew her close. He kissed her and asked again: "Have you?"

"Ah—who knows?"

"And you meant it—when you go down there, you'll be true?"

"As you are. Oh, yes!"

An exuberant and smiling young man came up the brand new steps of a brand new home in a new district west of Twin Peaks. Here resided Cliff Elkins and his wife, Sallie. And here with them lived Guy Elliott. Sallie was his sister.

Guy whistled.

From the backyard there now came slowly to meet him a fine Gordon setter. The dog rubbed his nose against Guy's shoe and then looked up at him a little disconsolately.

"What's wrong, Jim? This is no time for pessimism. Cheer up fellow."

The dog licked his hand. Then Guy noticed a rope trailing from his neck. It had been fastened to a small stake in the yard. The dog had pulled it free.

Guy picked up the rope and regarded it with irritation. "Tying you up, old fellow. Well—we'll see about this."

"That's all right, Guy," said a breezy, pleasant voice coming from a side door. "He didn't need to make such a fuss over it. The gardener just put in the lawn and I didn't want him digging up all the seeds. A little discipline isn't going to hurt him once in a while. You spoil him terribly. You've just about ruined him.

"Hurry and come in. I want you to see your room. We're almost settled."

The girl now came out on the porch. She wore a smart blue-check dress with white organdie collar and cuffs. She was blonde, rosy, smiling. "The place looks perfectly darling—No, you can't bring Jim in! He drools all over the new chairs."

"He can drool on my chairs. He's been doing it for the last eight years and his mother did it before him."

"Well—he's much better out in the yard. And I'm having a dog house made for him."

"He sleeps on the floor at my bed where he's always slept—new bungalow or not!"

Sallie tossed back her bobbed, glinting hair: "Wait till you see."

She pulled open the door of a nice, sunny room. The windows had drapes of lavender and gold. They framed a pretty view of hills and trees, shiny, pretty and small.

"Well—what do you think? Do you like it?" Sally knelt on the floor and rubbed the new carpet. It was of a rich egg-plant color . . . . "It's the very last word for a man's studio bedroom."

Guy burst out laughing. "I told you all I wanted was a lamp and a table and a good bed."

"The house has to be all in harmony. Look, isn't the bathroom stunning? They put in the finishing touches today."

It was in purple tile, small but very glistening.

"Awfully proud, aren't you, Sal?"

'Don't Throw Ashes On That Carpet!'

"Well—Cliff worked hard for it and we think it's pretty spiffy. Don't throw cigarette ashes on that carpet. You notice, I hope, that I've put trays everywhere so that even you won't have to use the vases. So now you can understand that Jim needn't be in this room . . . the yard is much better for him."

"No," thought Guy, but for the present he said no more, "that's one thing I don't understand. An old friend like Jim means more than a new carpet."

But he was in too blithe a mood to grow pugnacious even for a dog. He stood at his table, idly turning the leaves of a book. That gay little Pat was in love with him. And how spontaneous she was—how full of joy and verve. More stimulating than Barbara Bryce. A lot more fun. He wondered about her.

In a year he would have money—enough money. And that picture Pat painted of herself and the kids and the socks . . . it made him laugh—it made him foolishly delighted.

Early in the following week Guy went in to Bryce's office.

"He's left," said Nancy Brack. "In a storm. What do you think—those clubwomen who made such a howl when Tom Burns was sent over are working now to have his sentence definitely set at one year . . and they're going to get him paroled. He'll be out some time in the first of the year.

Bryce Plays Heavily, Loses Hundred Thousand

"What's that to Bryce?"

"Oh—it made him sore. Besides he dropped a hundred thousand yesterday. Pivoting his bank game went a little off."

"Is Bryce playing that game heavily?"

"Is he! That's why I told you to get going strong. Good thing you did."

"Not strong enough if he starts anything like that."

Guy went back to his workroom. Presently he shoved a hand through his hair. If Bryce lost in his gambling all this beautiful and splendid dream would vanish—

Nationally-Known Athletic Chief as Starter in Bulletin's Road Race

J. H. CROCKER TO OFFICIATE IN THANKSGIVING DAY RUN

Many Prominent Local Amateur Athletic Officials Agree to Act in Various Capacities in Big Holiday Marathon—Great Interest in Event

ARRANGEMENTS for the 1929 renewal of the Bulletin's 10-Mile Thanksgiving Day Road Race are fast nearing completion and yesterday, with the release of the list of officials by Sergeant John Leslie and Roy J. Foster, who are in charge of the event, came the announcement that outstanding local and nationally-known amateur chiefs would act in various capacities in the staging of the race Monday morning.

J. H. Crocker, national secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Athletic League, of Toronto, who will be in the city over the week-end has consented to act as starter for the big distance event and will work together with a number of other prominent local athletic heads. Mr. Crocker is known throughout the Dominion from his connection with athletics and his Y. M. C. A. activities and great satisfaction was expressed by Messrs. Leslie and Foster when he agreed to act in some capacity at the race.

EXPECT EVERYTHING TO BE RUN OFF SMOOTHLY

All other officials asked to act have consented to do so and the two men in charge expect that everything will be in high-class shape for the staging for the event on the holiday.

The complete list of officials is as follows:

Starter—J. H. Crocker.

Marshall of course—Sgt. Ed. Watson

Timers—Jos. Jackson, Sid Ash, A D. Youmans, Dr. W. A. Wilson.

Judges at finish—Alderman C. L. Gibbs, Chief A. G. Shute, C. H. Croft.

Medical examiner — Dr. W. A. Wilson.

Inspector of course—A. E. Figg, Hugh Munro, Alex Riddell.

Everything else connected with the race is coming along in a fine manner, as a number of last-minute entries are expected before the lists close Friday midnight a record field is expected to start this feature of northern Alberta distance races.

Medical Examiner

Cars will be supplied by the Bulletin for race officials and for the medical examiner, Dr. W. A. Wilson, who will look after the general welfare of the contestants and pick up any runners along the ten-mile course through the city streets who are forced out through any cause.

Through the courtesy of Chief Constable A. G. Shute, of the Edmonton Police Force, dressing room accommodation has been made available in the police buildings and competitors will be able to change there before and after the running of the event.

As was the case last year when this race was inaugurated by the Bulletin for the purpose of sponsoring distance running in the city and northern Alberta generally, a big score board will be placed in the front window of the Bulletin showing the positions of the runners at various given points along the route, at which there will be officials to record the leaders and every man competing in the race.

Great Interest in Race

Huge crowds lined Jasper Avenue last Thanksgiving Day morning to witness the start and finish of the race and such great interest was manifested that hundreds followed the runners in automobiles and crowded many of the streets along the route where the competitors made their way.

Sergeant Ed Watson, of the city police, who made such a fine job of keeping the crowds off the course last year in order to give the runners every possible chance, will be at his post again on Monday and the cooperation of the citizens is asked in keeping the route clear.

A-B-C Team Fad Starts in Again

BY AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Athletes whose names start with "H" have always played an important part in the sport world.

Compiling alphabetical football, baseball, basketball and hockey teams has been of much interest to many of the fans, as I had thousands of teams submitted to me last year from every state in the union. I've started the ball rolling again with an "H" football team. Send in your A-B-C- teams, and I'll run as many as I can.

Here's an "H" baseball team that could hold its own in any company:

1 B	Joe Harris.
2 B.	Rogers Hornsby.
S. S.	Stanley Harris.
3 B.	Charley Herzog.
L. F.	Chick Hafey.
R. F.	Harry Hooper.
C.	Gabby Hartnett.
P.	Jess Haines.

TORONTO WILL HAVE STRONG HOCKEY CLUB

Maple Leafs Will Need Watching in Coming N.H.L. Campaign

TORONTO, Nov. 7.—Toronto has not had a professional hockey championship since the old St. Patricks captured the Stanley cup in 1922, but each year since then word has gone out to watch Toronto. The warning can be repeated this year.

The Leafs suffered a cruel blow during the summer when Shorty Horne, one of their most brilliant young players, was drowned in northern Ontario, but otherwise last year's aggregation is intact. Smyth has added four young players who appear to be good major league prospects.

In the nets, Toronto has Lorne Chabot, a fine goalie, with Benny Grant as a capable but inexperienced substitute. The Leaf defence is composed of three tried veterans, Art Duncan, Happy Day and Art Smith, and one good young player, the fast Red Horner.

Among the forwards, the name of Irvin "Ace" Bailey, right wing man, leads all the rest. Bailey led the National League scorers last year. He is ably supported in the first string forward line by Andy Blair tall centre, and Danny Cox at left wing.

The two products of last year's trades, Harold Cotton, fromerly of Pittsburgh, and Eric Pettinger, who came to Toronto from Boston, are the reserve forwards who have played with the Leafs before. Joe Primeau is back again from the minors, apparently to stay.

The other Toronto newcomers are Charlie Conacher, younger brother of the famous Lionel, player-manager of the New York Americans, Cliff McBride and Gordon Brydgson. Conacher was the star of the Toronto Marlboro Juniors last season, McBride was a leading player with the Windsor Bulldogs; and Brydgson played with Buffalo last year.

SARNIA, Ont., Nov. 7.—The Sarnia Imperials finished the senior O. R. F. U. schedule undefeated when they blanked the Varsity Orphans six to nothing before a crowd of 1,500 at Athletic Park here Wednesday afternoon. It was their sixth successive victory.

University of Toronto Junior Football Team Winners Over McGill

MONTREAL, Nov. 7.—A smart University of Toronto junior football squad outplayed and out-maneuvered the McGill thirds at the Molson Stadium Wednesday to win an 18-1 decision in the first of a home-and-home series for the junior intercollegiate title, and as a result the blue twelve carry a 17-point lead and a virtual victory into the final game at the Queen City Saturday.

HARD FOUGHT HOOP GAMES ARE PLAYED

Three Keenly Contested Basketball Contests at "Y" Last Night

Two senior and one intermediate basketball games were played out to the bitter end in the "Y" gym last night with Hudson Bay, "Y" Blues, and "Y" Blacks coming out at the long ends of the scores.

In the first game Teglers started out by running up what appeared to be a good lead of about 10 points but about this time Hudson Bay woke up and soon evened the count, and after that were never headed.

The teams lined up like this:

Hudson Bay—Ormand 4; Sillars 7; McConachie 5; Fenerty 4; Klingaman 3; Total 23.

Teglers—Kilgour 4; Gowda 2; Lyons 4; Nevice 2; Dolgaoy 2; Total 14.

Second Game

The second game was the best played so far in the league with the "Y" Blues leaving Imperial Oil behind by 10 points, the score being 36-26. The Imperial Oil line up was practically the "Y" senior team of last season, but the "Y" Blues showed the results of their practice when their combination time and again completely baffled their opponents. For the winners, Joe Schurman was the big point getter with 7 total field goals and one foul throw, with Greenlees close behind with 5 field goals. For the losers, Pullishy and Cathers each turned in three field goals.

This is the way they lined up:

"Y" Blues—Schurman 15; Greenlees 10; Munro 2; Glasgow 4; Smith 5; Meakin. Total 36.

Imperial Oil—Olesky 4; Dickson 4; Pullishy 6; Cathers 6; Richards 4; Martell 2. Total 26.

Referee—Jim Rennie.

This makes the standing as follows:

"Y" Blues	won 5;	lost 0.
Imperial Oil	won 2;	lost 2.
Teglers	won 1;	lost 3.
Hudson Bay	won 1;	lost 4.

Third Game

The third game was hotly contested especially toward the end of the last period, but when the smoke of the battle cleared, it was found that the "Y" Blacks had 22 points, while the Nationals had 20. At the end of the first 15 minutes of play the Nationals had still to score their first point, while the "Y" had rolled up a lead of 14 points. A timely substitution at this stage turned the tide of battle to such an extent that the "Y" boys were fortunate to stay out in front. Bob Dickson handled the whistle capably and was forced to hand out no fewer than 17 penalties, the play being so close and rough. Of these the Nationals drew 5 and the Blacks drew the rest.

These are the line ups:

"Y" Blacks—Plowman 15; Rennie 7; Bryant; Haubl; Chong; Jeston; Total 22.

Nationals—Kramer 4; J. Newhouse 8; Wiseman 2; Heim 5; Goldsmith 1; H. Newhouse; Rodnunsky; Total 20.

This makes the standing of the Intermediate Feague as follows:

Nationals	won 4;	lost 1.
"Y" Blacks	won 3;	lost 2
Normal "A"	won 2;	lost 2
Normal "B"	won 0;	lost 4.

The two Normal teams are playing off this weeks fixture at the Normal School this afternoon, when Normal "A" will probably tie with the Blacks.

GRADETTES IN TRIUMPH OVER INDEPENDENTS

Great Finish to Game Which Winners Take by 44-41 Score

A thrilling finish to the senior game capped a fitting climax to an entertaining evening furnished by a double-header ladies basketball program at McDougall School last night when the Gradettes nosed out the Independents by a 44 to 41 score. In the first intermediate game, the McDougallites easily defeated the Capital A's having the best of the play and doubling the score on them by the time the final whistle had blown.

The Capitals started the game like winners when Linke notched the first basket shortly after play had started but the McDougallites soon overcame the lead when Johnston looped three to put them in the lead. From then on it was a case of too much Johnston and Belanger and the first intermission found the Capital team lacking eight points, when they were trailing behind a thirteen to four score. In the second quarter the leaders ran wild and piled up a lengthy lead that read 32 to 7 at half time. Capitals came back a little in the third and outscored the Mac's 11 to 6 but were unable to hold them in the last. The final score was 48 to 24.

Burland and Rowbottom played nice basketball for the losers, while Belanger, Johnston and Reilly were the shinning lights of the winners.

The Teams

McDougallites—Belanger 18; Sypnowick 4; Reilly 10; Styles 0; Mickelson 2; Wheatcroft 3; Johnson 11;

Capital A—Rowbottom 4; Begge 2; Linke 5; Reid 0; Burland 0; Rankin 2; Johnston 0; Darbyshire 2; Symington; Gibbs.

Referee—J. Percy Page.

H. Stone Gets Plenty

By leaving Helen Stone unchecked the Independants put themselves at a disadvantage when she was fed the ball at regular intervals and on nearly every occasion she notched a basket to give the winners a lead from the start. The baskets scored by Stone was a fair criterion of the teams play during the first quarter and the score stood 15 to 6 for the Gradettes at the end of the first. In the second period the play was a little closer but the same forward was a dangerous factor to the chances of the blue-shirted quintet. She again enjoyed a field day that kept her team in the lead. Sewell, for the losers, netted some nice shots for the Independants. The half time score found the Gradettes still leading by 25 to 14.

Play Is Rougher

From the first whistle of the second half the players started in all seriousness and the play became rougher as the time went by. The Independents had remedied their first peroid misstake and had Miss Stone well covered, with a result that Neale came forward with the majority of baskets scored by the young Grads. Sewell rarely missed when given a shot and her total was fast mounting and helping the Blues to catch up on the large lead. Knutson kept the fans' interest at fever pitch with some close long shots that often turned into scores. At three-quarter time the Independants had climbed within five points of their opponents and looked as though they were going to make a game out of it. Occasional rough play marred the third period but did nothing to lessen the excitement as the Independants slowly gained on the sure shooting Grads.

The game was still nobodys until the final whistle blew and the Gradettes were fast tiring under a heavy barrage of checks being handed out by the trailers. Neale of the Grads stood out among all others during the last half with four quick ones to her credit. Sewell, a sorral-topped forward on the Independents, figured mostly in the scoring done by the losers. The final score 44 to 41.

The Teams

Gradettes—H. Stone 17; Coulson 0; Brown 8; Farley 0; E. Stone 6; Innes 1; Boyd 0; Neale 12.

Independents—Warshawski 3; Riddell 0; Knutson 0; Palcer 0; Sewell 18; Chuck 4; Shandro 0; Dane 7.

Referee—Bill Douglas.

New Serapta Has Fight Tomorrow

NEW SERAPTA, Nov. 7.—Gus Whal, of Hay Lake, and Jimmy Cameron local fighter, are booked for a ten-round fight here on Friday, November 8.

The preliminary to this bout will bring together Paul Schmit and Cecil Guyatt, 80 pound scrappers.

SASKATOON, Nov. 7.—The University of Saskatchewan rugby team will journey to Vancouver shortly to compete for the Western Canada inter-collegiate title. The squad from the Prairies will meet the University of British Columbia team, but definite dates for the series have not been decided upon.

WRESTLERS AT VARSITY HAVE FAIR TURNOUT

First Work-out is Held on Wednesday for Mat Artists

Varsity wrestlers went through their first work-out Wednesday evening in the gym.

An even dozen knights of the mat turned out and were put through their paces by Smith Gardiner. While a number of the new men have not had any previous experience at wrestling, there are several others who have had a good grounding in the art.

Due to several counter attractions, the turn-out was not as large as was expected. What it lacked in numbers it made up for in enthusiasm. In the opinion of Mr. Gardiner, wrestling at the University is entering on its best year to date.

Dr. Dodd will be over to give the boys instruction once each week. As it is arranged to have the use of the gym for two afternoons each week, Gardiner will put them through their paces during the days that Dr. Dodd is not present.

Some good weight men have joined up with the club, and it is hoped that an outside match or two may be arranged during the season. A tournament among the local men is planned as soon as the contestants are in good training form.

Western Canada Football Championship Final Awarded to Roughriders

OTTO PELTZER MAY BE SEEN IN COME-BACK

Possibility that German Track Star Will Run in Canadian Meet

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The announcement the Dr. Otto Peltzer, famous middle distance runner from Germany, has been granted permission to compete in three races in the United States during the coming indoor season forecasts a comeback campaign by the Continental star.

Following Peltzer's performances in United States early last year he failed to show to advantage upon his return to Germany. Due to an injury to his ankle and the interruption of his training program, he was not in top condition for the Olympic games.

It is recalled that on the German athletic emissary's previous visit to the United States he was somewhat handicapped by being unable to train and condition himself properly, but for the forthcoming season he will have an opportunity to come to this country in ample time to become acclimated.

With the sanction given by the German Sports Federation for Peltzer to compete in the United States, track circles in this country look forward to the assured international rivalry and there is talk that Ray Barbuti may be a likely opponent for the doctor, provided Barbuti is fully reinstated to his amateur status.

While it is true that Peltzer favors the half-mile and 800-metre distances he also is a star over the quarter-mile and 500-metre routes, which would make possible a meeting with the former Syracuse star.

Peltzer always was inclined to competition with Lloyd Hahn, the Boston A. A. representative, and there is a chance that Hahn might return to the track and renew a campaign for all encounter with the doctor.

Peltzer has been the athletic idol of Germany ever since he conquered Paavo Numri in Berlin in a 1,500-metre race in 1927. While Peltzer's performances have not been impressive of late, his comeback is being viewed with considerable interest by those associated with track sports here and abroad.

The big track affairs in New York during the winter months include the New York A. C. games, the K. of C. contests and the Millrose carnival. Peltzer will probably appear in one of those meets. He will be limited to three appearances in competition in the United States. This provision was made in accordance with the international rules and appended to the sanction by the International Amateur Federation.

Peltzer also has received permission for three races in Australia and three other appearances in the Philippines.

Although Dr. Peltzer has not had Canadian territory included on his program it is possible that he may be invited to compete at the Canadian indoor track championships, which will be held at the Coliseum, Toronto, in February. It will be necessary for him to secure permission from the I. A. A. F. to accept such an invitation.

First Division Game Scheduled Saturday

The Canadian Nationals will lock horns with the Canadian Legion eleven in a first division league match at Diamond Park Saturday afternoon, starting at 3:30 o'clock sharp.

A hard-fought match is looked for as the Railroaders, winners of every other local soccer competition this year, are anxious to go through to the league championship, while the Legion aggregation is just as anxious to stop them.

Bill Thompson will referee.

Winter Must Be Near!

AT Tuesday night's gathering of amateur hockey leaders, called together by President Stuart Matheson, of the Edmonton and District Hockey Association, to enable him to get a line on what was going to be what in the various leagues under his jurisdiction during the coming season, it was plainly evident that the approaching puck campaign could not be far away and, with the annual meetings of the Alberta and local associations billed for Monday and Tuesday of next week, it's a cinch that commencement of the 1929-30 season is nearly upon us.

While the number and class of teams that will make up the intermediate, junior, juvenile and midget divisions are still pretty much "in the air," and will likely not be known until after the annual meeting next week, it is a certainty that the senior league will remain the same as last year, with the same four contenders, the Maple Leafs, Superiors, Elks and University of Alberta.

Few Changes Expected

TO date, there has been very little talk around of changes in the three city senior teams. Varsity is always an unknown quantity until the season is well underway on account of the incoming freshman class and the losses by graduation. Just what they will have to offer will not be known for some time but it is expected that there will be few new faces on the other senior clubs when they skate onto the ice for their first games.

The Maple Leafs, who lost out the provincial final last year to High River, will be without the services of Jim Kinney on their defence but the rest of the positions will probably be filled by the same players as last year. Few switches are looked for in the Superiors, with the Elks likely to be the team that will trot out more newcomers than any of the others. They have lost Paul Maher to the Hollywood Stars, but Manager George Cristall plans to strengthen his team considerably.

There's More Than James

ALTHOUGH it would mean a lot to football in Alberta if the Calgary Tigers were to emerge as Western Canada champions on Thanksgiving Day, the writer is going on record as predicting a win for the Rough Riders from Regina. I can't see how the Bengals are going to beat Freddy Wilson's team from the Saskatchewan capital.

Harry Scott, sporting editor of the Calgary Albertan, says "Stop James" and, while Eddie will need a lot of stopping, there are also a few other members of the Riders that will have to be watched, and these include, among others, Saul Bloomfield, their booter, Jerry Erskine, and Grubb. While the Tigers will have an edge on the forward passing, with Gerry Sieberling doing his stuff, there will be plenty in the Regina threat to offset this. The worthy Mr. Scott, also points out that Maurice Fidler is capable of some powerful plunging and is bound to make his presence felt. Fidler is a big, strong plunger but he will be crashing into a line that is not noticeably weak when he hits the Regina front wall.

The Bulletin Road Race

LOOMING up as the next big thing for Edmontonians in an athletic way is the second annual Thanksgiving Day 10-Mile Road Race sponsored by the Edmonton Bulletin, which will be run next Monday morning, the runners getting started from 100 Street and Jasper Avenue at 10:30 o'clock.

This race, which was inaugurated last year for the purpose of sponsoring and fostering distance running here, has attracted attention all over the province and a record field is looked for when the boys face the starting barrier.

Balmy Beach Wind Up O.R.F.U. Schedule

OAKWOOD STADIUM, Toronto, Nov. 7.—Balmy Beach wound up their senior Ontario rugby union schedule here Wednesday with a 37 to one win over St. Michael's College. It was the Beachers second straight win over the Irish and their sixth of the season for a perfect average.

The game in spite of the score, was interesting. Both teams fumbled often, but Balmy had more luck in recovering.

THANKSGIVING DAY GRIDIRON CLASH SCHEDULED IN REGINA

President Miller, of W.C.R.U., Casts Deciding Vote Against Calgary Tigers When Executive Vote on Venue is Deadlocked on Wednesday

By ELMER DULMAGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, Nov 7 — Three-time football champions of the west, Regina Rough Riders will defend their throne Thanksgiving Day—at home. Calgary's conquering Tigers, Alberta titlists, must invade the Saskatchewan capital for a crack at the Doughty Riders, the Western Canada Rugby Union championship and a chance to battle the east's winner for Canadian supremacy.

Originally scheduled for Regina, the big contest was definitely awarded the Rough Riders last night by Dr. Walter A Miller, Winnipeg, president of the Western Canada Union when his executive voted to a deadlock in the telegraphic ballot which moved that the president's decision be thrown out and the game given to Calgary.

TWO ALBERTANS SIGNED MOTION FOR VOTE

The controversy over most important rugby battle of the year was started when President Miller announced some weeks ago the dates for interprovincial play downs, calling for the senior final to be played either at Winnipeg or the home of the Saskatchewan champions.

Defeating St. John's College here last Saturday, Regina qualified to have the crucial fixture at home.

Failing to secure the game when Roughriders declined an offer of $1,200 to play the game at Calgary, Alta., Alberta officials climaxed their efforts by addressing a motion to President Miller here, which recommended that the president's original ruling be thrown aside and the final be played at Calgary.

The motion signed by Walter Ross, of Calgary and Dean Howes, of Edmonton, based its request on the accepted understanding that the final contest should rotate from province to province each year. It was Alberta's turn, the motion declared.

Rejected Motion

Three executive members voted for the Ross-Howes motion and three opposed it. President Miller rejected the motion with his deciding vote.

"Taking into consideration that it has been the Saskatchewan and Manitoba Unions that have practically kept the Western Canada Rugby Union in existence during the last few years, I could do nothing but reject the motion," Dr. Miller declared last night.

"Alberta has not participated in the prairie play-downs for the past five years," he stated. "I do not consider Alberta has a claim to the final this year on the basis of a rotating avenue for the same reason," said the president.

Dr. Miller hoped Calgary officials would take this decison in the best of spirit.

"I do hope the Calgary team will play the finals at Regina. It will be a great game."

Unbeaten in their own province and heralded as one of the mightiest grid machines to come out of the far-west, Calgary has been the first team in three years to be conceded a chance in Western Canada of toppling the powerful Roughriders.

With a well-balanced twelve, including a trio of the most brilliant backfielders in the country, the Bengals have won six straight games in Alberta.

Expect Sandstrom Back

They may be handicapped with injuries for the final conflict, but Calgary fans are confident that Fritz and "Buck" Billings, ailing stars will be back in uniform for the important engagement.

Sandstrom, who was the driving force in the Regina machines, that copped three prairie crowns in as many years, is playing his first season in the city of the foothills. He has been out of the game for a month with an injured ankle. Billings a former Toronto Balmy Beach star, also has been on the side lines with injuries.

But Tigers at least are certain of having Gerry Seiberling, their long-distance passer, and Alex McKenzie ex-Balmy Beach punter, in the fray. Seiberling, graduate of Drake University's football school of learning is considered the best passer in the west.

Roughriders will be ready for the invasion with the same team that drubbed Winnipeg St. John's here. That means the burly Bengals will bump into "Dynamite" Eddie Jones, Saul Bloomfield, Desmond Grubb, and other line battering and kicking aces that wear the Maroon.

Calgary Tigers to Entrain Sunday for Final at Regina

CALGARY, Nov. 7.—Calgary Tigers' football squad twenty strong, accompanied by J. M. Bannerman, business manager, Dan McQuarrie, secretary, Col. Tommy Williams, one of the coaches, and Jack Ferguson, trainer, will leave on the afternoon Canadian Pacific train Sunday for Regina, where they will oppose the Roughriders in the final game of the Western Canada rugby championship series, Thanksgiving Day, Monday, Nov. 11.

Hopes for a gold and black victory are running high among the supporters of Coach "Fritz" Sandstrom's team and it is probable that a number of fans will be making the trip so as to be insured plenty of support for them.

National League Adds Three Former Players to Staff of Referees

MONTREAL, Nov. 7.—Three former stars in the National League Wednesday were added to the League's staff of referees in the persons of Odie Cleghorn, Cy Denenney and Bert Corbeau.

Cleghorn is a former centre of the Canadiens of Montreal and later manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. Denenney for many years was a wing man with the Ottawa Senators and last year played with Boston while Bert Corbeau played defense for Montreal Canadiens and Toronto St. Pats, (now the Maple Leafs), prior to managing a team in the Canadian Professional league.

STRIBLING IS WINNER

PARIS, Nov. 7.—William L. "Young" Stribling, defeated Maurice Griselle, French heavyweight, on points, in their ten round bout at the Paris Arena, before 6,000 enthusiastic fans last night.

WHEAT GAINS WHEN BUYERS ENTER MARKET

Winnipeg Close is 2½c Higher—Argentine Reports Frost

Canadian Press

WINNIPEG, Nov. 7.—Overcoming an early weakness caused by stock market declines, wheat values soared today, closing with net gains of 2⅛ cents to 2⅝ cents. Buyers took hold of the market following a ⅝ cent to 1⅝ cent drop in the opening minutes of trading, and the market remained firm for the balance of the session. Commission houses were leading purchasers. Exporters took little interest, it was believed.

Reports of frost in some sections of the Argentine wheat growing belt and Broomhall's reduced estimate of the Argentine wheat surplus for 1930 had an effect on prices here.

Cash wheat sales were light, and spreads remained unchanged. Substantial gains in coarse grain prices were recorded, oats, barley, flax and rye futures values shooting upward in sympathy with the wheat advance.

CALGARY, Nov. 7.—Turner Basin No. 1, in the north end of the field, was down 3000 feet last night with the crew making preparations to start running 10-inch casing to the bottom, according to the last reports.

Mercury, No. 1 — was ready to resume drilling from 4260 feet, a few feet in the ome sands, according to field reports last night. About 40 feet of light crude oil was standing in the hole after another 10 barrels had been bailed out during fishing operations when a string of tools and part of the drill line were fished out about eight hours after they had been dropped early last evening.

Calmont No. 2 was busy running casing during Wednesday and last reports stated that they had run about 700 feet. Casing will be run to the bottom at 4066 feet, when drilling will be resumed. No. 19 is rigging up the rotary from No. 9 and the crew expects to resume drilling from 5300 feet by the end of the week. The rig from No. 3 is now being installed at No. 8 on the Dallas lease and this well will be the first of three new wells of the company to spud in on this lease. The standard tools from No. 7 will be moved to No. 10 as soon as the former well is down 1600 feet. The present depth is about 1500 feet. The cellar is dug for No. 10, just west of No. 8, and the location made for No. 11. The standard tools from No. 1 will be moved to No. 11 as soon as the derrick at the latter well is completed.

Wellington No. 1, south of Home wells in Turner Valley, was down 4460 feet last night and running casing which will be set in the lower fernies. Reports state that the crew expect to strike the limestone within 200 feet.

Warner, No. 3, spudded in about 40 feet from No. 2 in southern Turney Valley, was down 300 feet nad drilling steadily with the 18-inch bit after setting the 21-inch surface casing at 126 feet, according to reports.

Miracle No. 1 — Delayed for several weeks trying to repair damaged surface casing, is now standing with a new string of 13¼-inch surface casing cemented and will resume drilling from 3400 feet as soon as the cement has had time to set properly.

East Crest No. 1 was drilling out the cement and was expecting to be making a new hole in the lime today from a depth of 4322 feet, about 10 feet in the lime. The new rotary, using hot oil in the circulating system is being used. No. 2 has been delayed for several days and reports last night stated that the crew was still attempting to mud off the gas struck in the Dalhousie sands at 3115 feet. A flow of about 7,000,000 cubic feet was struck in this flow, reports stated.

Royalite No. 4 is commencing the erection of a new derrick with the timbers already on the ground and work will start shortly. The well will then be cleaned out and the derrick left, for officials state it may be necessary to clean it out in the future.

Illinois-Alberta No. 2, near No. 1, in central Turner Valley, was drilling new hole last night after side tracking the lost bit and the last report stated that the diamond drill was working steadily at 3681 feet but in exactly what formation officials did not know.

McDougall-Segur No. 4, spudded in about two months ago, was drilling steadily last night with the cable tools pounding at 2450 feet when reports were received. No. 3 which has been standing idle since last spring will resume drilling with cable tools very shortly from 3280 feet.

Commonwealth Petroleums No. 1, in Turney Valley, was down 4235 feet and drilling steadily after fishing out a bit at 4281 feet Tuesday night. Last samples taken showed the bit to be in the pokerchip shales but last night drillers stated that a harder formation had been struck, the exact formation of which was not known.

McLeod No. 5 was drilling at 1850 feet last night and making steady footage. No. 1 was reported to be still fishing for the lost bit at 3943 feet and drilling deeper into the limestone will be resumed as soon as the bit is recovered.

Model No. 1, on the west side of the structure in the north end of Turner Valley, was drilling steadily at 5390 feet after passing through the Dalhousie sands, reports stated last night.

A. P. Con. — Shareholders wishing to take advantage of stock rights offer must have stock registered Nov. 15 and must take up portion of allotment desired by Dec. 15. Shareholders entitled to buy one share at $1 for each five shares held.

British Dominion — Is standing cemented in lime. Officials hoping to get started drilling this week will use cable tools with special control head.

Invaders — In extreme north Turner Valley, recovered but, carried casing to bottom and now drilling past 3205 feet with more gas reported.
